Operating Rail Unions Accept Hike

Three Groups Take 10 Cents Hourly Boost

Retroactive To Oct. 16; To Cost Carriers $40,000,000 Year

CHICAGO, Nov. 12 (AP) — Three railroad unions whose strike threat last May was blocked by a last minute federal court injunction reached a wage settlement with the railroads today.

They accepted a 10 cents hourly wage boost, retroactive to October 16.

The settlement, covering 250,000 engineers, firemen, and switchmen, completed the third round wage increases for five unions whose 350,000 members operate the nation's trains.

D. P. Loomis, chairman of the western railroads wage committee, estimated the settlement would add $40,000,000 a year to railroad operating costs. A similar 10 cents hourly settlement reached October 4 with the conductors and trainmen will add another $55,665,000 to costs, he added.

Today's agreement marked the first time the carriers and their engineers and firemen reached a national wage accord across the bargaining table, without recourse to mediation, arbitration or fact finding, Loomis said.

Other Dispute Unsettled

Still unsettled, however, are the wage and working conditions demands of some 1,000,000 members of 16 non-operating unions whose members are telegraphers, yardmen, and others not actually engaged in operating the trains. A presidential fact-finding board is hearing this dispute.

The settlement was announced by a spokesman for the unions and later confirmed by a spokesman for the carriers.

The engineers, firemen, and switchmen had demanded a boost of 18 per cent this time. This represented the difference between the 30 per cent wage increase they demanded September 30, 1947 and the 15½ cents boost they accepted in July, at the recommendation of a presidential fact-finding board.

Early this year they rejected the fact-finding board's suggestion and called a strike for May 10. President Truman then turned the railroads over to the Army and the government got a court order barring the strike. The three unions bowed to the injunction and cancelled the scheduled walkout.

Contracts Due To Be Signed

Neither the unions nor carriers translated the 10 cents wage increase accepted into a percentage basis. Loomis said he expected contracts would be signed tomorrow.

Loomis also said the various demands of the 1 non-operating unions would total about $1,500,000,000 a year.

Although the five operating unions claim a total of some 420,000 dues-paying members, some are retired and there is some overlapping of membership. The carriers estimate they employ about 350,000 operating workers.

Negotiations for the five operating unions began September 14. After the first two unions—the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainment and the Order of Railway Trainmen—representing 175,000 employes, ac-

Soviet Union Wages Propaganda Peace Offensive, Marshall Says

Secretary Declares Aim Is To Undermine U. S. World Position

PARIS, Nov. 12 (AP)—Secretary of State George C. Marshall declared today Russia is waging a propaganda peace offensive with the real aim of wrecking the world position of the United States.

Russia's action in spreading a report of a suggested Truman-Stalin meeting is part of this propaganda drive, Marshall said.

He gave his views at an extraordinary news conference at the same time his deputy delegate, Frederick H. Osborn, accused Soviet leaders of carrying on a second type of propaganda to prepare the Russian people for war. Osborn blasted at Russia during debate on the disarmament issue in the Political Committee of the United Nations Assembly.

Marshall said Soviet propaganda in the United Nations has not been successful. The great majority of nations in the world organization, he continued, have lined up solidly in their opinions on the world situation.

The Secretary defined propaganda peace offensives as procedures designed to play upon the general desire for peace with the real purpose of wrecking the position of the United States.

Dangerous Practice

Such propaganda efforts are very dangerous, he continued, because everyone sincerely wants peace but not mere propaganda for peace.

The Secretary talked for about 90 minutes to about 30 American newsmen crowded into the press room of the United States delegation to the United Nations. He ranged over the world in his comments but the majority of his remarks were strictly off the record—that is, not for publication in any way.

He withheld permission to use any of his remarks—except when attributed to a "leading United Nations delegate"—until he had checked the long transcript. Then about six hours after the conference a condensed version of his statements was read out to newsmen by an American delegation spokesman. The spokesman said Marshall still did not permit direct quotations.

In brief Marshall said:

1. The Russians grabbed up suggestions that President Truman and Prime Minister Stalin meet and used them for propaganda.

2. Russian propaganda in the United Nations Assembly has not been successful. That is one reason why Stalin issued his interview last month accusing United States leaders of being aggressors.

3. The eastern bloc and the Communists increase their efforts to obstruct and destroy the European recovery plan each time it makes a forward step.

ERP Making Big Headway

4. The European recovery program has made greater progress than is generally realized.

5. The United States is detemined that the Berlin airlift will go ahead as long as is necessary.

6. The United States is looking to the six neutral countries in the United Nations Security Council to see what they might propose in the Berlin crisis.

7. The Greek problem is just one part of the big, world-wide problem affecting Russian-United States relations.

Reports of the possibility of a meeting between President Truman and Prime Minister Stalin to discuss world problems snowballed this week after a Washington Times-Herald columnist said such a conference might be held.

The column was picked up by Tass, the Soviet news agency, and given prominent play in the newspapers of Russia and her satellites. White House aides with Mr. Truman at Key West, Fla., said the President has stated repeatedly he would be glad to talk to Stalin any time the Soviet leader wishes to visit the United States. Mr. Truman also has said he will not leave the United States again for such a meeting.

FIRED, SHE SAYS-- Gypsy Rose Lee, ex-stripper and novelist, displays some of the chorus costumes she took with her when she left the Broadway night club "La Martinique" where her show failed to open Thursday night. She said yesterday she did not appear for the opening because she was fired for asking four weeks salary—$10,000—in advance. The club management says she "simply walked out" and will sue her for $150,000 in lost profits. With her at her press conference in her apartment in New York is her pet dog, "Georgetta." Longshoremen Launch Strike For More Pay

Marshall Plan Aid Hit; Rail Freight Embargo Ordered

NEW YORK, Nov. 13 (Saturday) (AP)—A longshoremen's strike expected to tie up docks from Maine to Virginia became effective at 12:01 a. m. today.

The walkout threatens to paralyze a large segment of the nation's multi-million-dollar shipping industry. But effects were not expected to be widespread until Monday because of a normal weekend lull in ship-loading activities.

A New Orleans official of the AFL International Longshoremen's Association said dock workers there would abide by an agreement running through December 9.

Galveston workers were expected to stand by a similar agreement and a Gulfport, Miss., shipping official said no strike action was contemplated by union men there.

Joseph P. Ryan, president of the union, who ordered the East Coast strike, said he didn't intend to call out the South and Gulf port workers now.

Army Goods To Be Moved

He added, however, that "they'll come out if we need them. So far there's no need of help from that source, and there's no use involving anyone else in our troubles."

He also said the East Coast strikers would assist only in the movement of Army shipments, not including Marshall Plan aid as was previously announced.

"As long as we're having a strike, let's have a strike," he said without further comment or explanation.

It had been reported that Gulf Coast workers would go out in sympathy. This would have meant a virtual nationwide shipping tieup, since the West Coast has been shut down some time by strikes there.

There are 65,000 workers in the AFL group ordered out on the East Coast. Several thousand already had quit. The strike follows membership rejection of a new wage agreement and other contract provisions worked out earlier this week by union and employer representatives.

Earlier, Ryan said:

"The President will have to get into this thing."

Ryan told a news conference that he and his negotiating committee had expected to receive an appeal from Washington requesting a 15 or 20-day back-to-work period while a board was formed with power to recommend solutions to the dispute.

Rail Embargo Ordered

He added, however, that "our men are not in the mood to go back to work for 20 days."

John V. Loyons, chairman of the New York Shipping Association, the employer group, told reporters after a meeting with union representatives and two federal conciliators that "they (union leader) told us our proposals had been rejected, and we told them we had no further concessions to make."

Announcement of the rejection of the wage settlement by the East Coast longshoremen followed shortly an order by the Association of American Railroads halting shipment to New York and Boston of nearly all freight for export.

The embargo becomes effective tomorrow.

Bridges Urges Special Session To Act On China

Communist Menace Is Grave, Chinese Ambassador Says

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12. — (AP) — Wellington Koo, the Chinese ambassador, said tonight "the Communist menace in China is the gravest of its kind in any part of the world."

The Ambassador's comment came a few hours after Sen. Bridges (R-NH) had proposed that President Truman call Congress into special session at once to increase American help to China.

Koo said he had no direct comment to make on the special session proposal but did declare in a statement that China "in the face of the Communist armed revolt to seize control of the whole country, has urgent need of and would welcome more aid and assistance given promptly."

Bridges said there is grave danger the Communists may engulf all of China "lock, stock and barrel" unless the Chinese government gets effective help at once.

China Defending Democracy

China's struggle against the spread of Communism, Koo said, "is not only to achieve unity and preserve freedom as a nation but is also in defense of the general clause of democracy against Communist domination."

In a statement issued through his office here, Bridges urged that Congress be called back immediately. The Senator himself was in Des Moines to make a speech.

At Key West, Fla., where President Truman is vacationing, Assistant Press Secretary Eben Ayers said the White House had no comment on Bridges' proposal.

Technically, the 80th Congress is still in existence, and still dominated by Republicans. Terms of the adjournment resolution it adopted last August 7 reserved to the Republican leaders of the House and Senate the right to bring Congress

Nanking Says Red Forces Hurled Back

NANKING, Nov. 12 (AP)—Pro-government newspapers proclaimed in extras today a "major victory" over nine Chinese Communist columns along the Grand Canal 160 miles northwest of Nanking.

(The Communist radio, heard in Peiping and San Francisco, made similar victory claims over government forces. The Communists said they were within six miles north of Suchow, last main base guarding Nanking.)

The official-sanctioned Nanking reports said national troops savagely attacked and hurled back Gen. Chen Yi's troops who were trying to cross the historical canal.

The reports said the Communists suffered 37,000 casualties and fled in disorder in a battle that began Wednesday night and lasted through Friday morning.

Government claims of victory and of enemy casualties usually are greatly exaggerated, but it was the consensus of observers in this capital that the main Communist drive against Suchow had been stopped, at least temporarily.

(The Communist radio heard in Peiping said two government divisions had gone over to the Communist side north of Suchow. It boasted that the government's Seventh Army Corps was being "annihilated" east of Suchow; and the Second Corps was being surrounded west of Suchow.

(Other Communist broadcasts heard in San Francisco said another government division was "wiped out" east of Suchow on Wednesday and that Comunist columns were six miles north of Suchow. They listed 20,000 government casualties in four days and for the first time referred to the fighting as a major offensive.)

Vasilevsky, Red Army Staff Chief, Relieved Of Duties

War Hero Succeeded By Gen. Shtemenko

MOSCOW, Saturday, Nov. 13 (AP)—Gen. Sergei M. Shtemenko was promoted today to chief of staff of the Russian army. He replaces Marshal Alexander M. Vasilevsky who was relieved of his duties because of the burden of too much work.

Vasilevsky retained his job of first vice minister of the armed forces. Shtemenko was elevated from the rank of colonel general to general.

Warned Against Complacency

Three years ago, in a speech commemorating the 28th anniversary of the October revolution, Vasilevsky said:

"In international relations the Soviet Union occupies a worthy and becoming place. Democratic masses of other countries see in our nation a reliable stronghold of peace."

He warned the Red army against complacency saying "there can be no place for giddiness from success." Vasilevsky said history was full of examples of victorious armies losing their fame because of conceit, indifference or failure to learn.

Led Reds Against Japan

In September 1945, Vasilevsky was awarded a second gold star medal for leading the Russian armies against Japan. A Red army chief of staff before Russia declared war on Japan, he led the forces which liberated the Crimea, and later captured Koenigsburg in the drive to Berlin.

In March 1947, Vasilevsky was made first deputy to Marshal Nikolai A. Bulganin, minister of the Soviet armed forces, and now a member of the Politburo.

Rescuers Seek Entombed Man

LAMBERTVILLE, N. J., Nov. 12 (AP) — Sent into action by an appeal to Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll, rescue workers dug tonight through thousands of tons of rock in the slim hope of finding alive a man buried for five days in a landslide.

State Police Sgt. Jack Wallace and officials of the Lambertville Quarry Company, where 200,000 tons of rock gave way Monday, said "there isn't a chance" that Edgar S. Snyder, 64, survived the avalanche. They added it might be three weeks before the stone can be cleared away.

The body of another worker, Raymond Wellman, 48, was recovered Monday.

Driscoll acted after Snyder's four sons called on him at Trenton and expressed the belief their father might still be alive in a crevice among the boulders. They were Russell, Newark; Charles, Lehighton, Pa.; Earl, Wichita Falls, Tex., and Harold, Lambertville.

Nicholas J. McGowan, a company official, said "we have already violated every rule of safety in trying to reach the body."

McGowan said the only equipment available in New Jersey to remove the hundreds of boulders at the base of the 185-foot, open-faced quarry is a massive electric shovel already at the scene.

This was damaged in Monday's fall and cannot be repaired for two or three days.

MISSING B-29, CREW SIGHTED ON ISLAND

SPOKANE, Nov. 12. (AP)—The crew of a B-29 bomber reported missing early today has been sighted beside the crashed plane on a Pacific island atoll, the Spokane Air Force base commander said tonight.

Col. James E. Briggs said he had learned in a telephone conversation with Air Force officials in Japan the crew of the missing bomber was sighted from the air and a Navy destroyer is steaming toward the island.

The plane, one from the 98th Bomb Group on temporary duty from its Spokane base was declared missing while searching for another B-29 in the area of Guam.

Mine Fire Still Rages

CARBON GLOW, Ky., Nov. 12 (AP) —A fire which has burned for more than 36 hours in the Carbon Glow Coal Company drift mine here was reported still out of control late tonight. Mine Superintendent H. E. Dixon said about 50 men had been fighting the fire around the clock.

7 Jap Warlords, Including Tojo, Doomed To Hang

Other Defendants Get Prison Terms

TOKYO, Nov. 12. (AP)—Hideki Tojo was sentenced today to hang as chief of the criminal Japanese military clique whose dream of ruthless conquest wrecked their own country and tumbled all East Asia into chaos.

Six of his fellow conspirators were sentenced to the gallows with him. No execution date was fixed.

Sixteen got life imprisonment; one a 20-year term, and another seven years. The tribunal president, Sir William Webb, of Australia, filed a separate opinion stating in effect that Emperor Hirohito—not on trial—was morally responsible but politically immune.

Tojo was premier of Japan from Oct. 17, 1941, to July 18, 1944—from before Pearl Harbor to Japan's shattering loss of Saipan. He personified the Japanese enemy to most of the Allies far more than Hirohito ever did.

After hearing his death sentence, he told his Japanese attorney he was "very glad" the Emperor had not been involved in war guilt.

Surprised At Some Sentences

The attorney, Ichiro Kirose, said Tojo also repeated his "impression that this was a trial by the victor," and was surprised at some of the sentences because he had felt that he would be held "solely responsible" for launching the war.

None of the 25 defendants was acquitted by the 11-nation international military tribunal which spent two and one-half years trying them.

After the interminable months of wordy trial, it took just 21 tense and dramatic minutes for the court to convict and pronounce sentence on the men who tried to fashion

Younger Nemes Proves Nemesis To Older Nemes

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 12 (AP) —Three-year-old Charles Nemes III said six words November 8, but his father was not proud. His father was arrested.

The elder Nemes, Charles Jr., was charged with bookmaking. In court today, a police judge fined him $100 for possession of lottery slips and held him in $1,500 bail on other gambling counts.

Nemes Jr. was arrested November 8 after police chased his car from Trenton to nearby Hamilton Township. There, police testified, they stopped the car and found several lottery slips in the pockets of his small son.

The six words Charles III said were:

Chrysler Labor Dispute Settled

DETROIT, Nov. 12 (AP)—A production dispute which had idled 13,500 workers in four Detroit area plants of Chrysler Corporation was settled late today and back-to-work orders went out to the men.

Tony Cassera, vice president of Local 7 of the CIO United Auto Workers, issued the back-to-work directive.

Chrysler officials said that all but 1,200 of the men would go back on their jobs Monday, with the rest due to report Tuesday.

An additional 150 machine operators walked out in sympathy and other walkouts and layoffs followed.

Company officials said they had reached agreement with the UAW today to put the dispute issues through regular grievance procedure and that hearings would be held next week.

Plans For Defense Pact Move Ahead

LONDON, Nov. 12 (AP)—Plans for a North Atlantic defense pact calling for United States and Canadian military support if Western Europe is attacked moved swiftly ahead today.

The permanent committee of the Brussels pact powers — Britain, France, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg — met in secrecy to draft an alliance proposal which they hoped would be acceptable to the United States and Canada.

United States Defense Secretary James Forrestal arrived in London from Paris for conferences with Prime Minister Clement Attlee and United States military representatives.

Persistent reports circulated in diplomatic circles that Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin will attend a transatlatic pact conference which Washington and Ottawa sources predict will write the final text of the treaty before Christmas in the American capital.

In Paris, a French Foreign Ministry spokesman said France and Belgium have offered drafts of a proposed alliance. The French proposal would bind the United States to defend Western Europe for 50 years. A committee of all powers of the alliance would consult on the day of an attack, and decide the nature of aid.

The problem of the Western European pact writers is to find a draft suitable to the United States and Canada. By tradition the United States dislikes military alliances. Even with the Pan-American countries, it is committed only to "consultations" if one of them is attacked.

First Family Has Florida Reunion

KEY WEST, Fla., Nov. 12 (AP) — The Harry S. Trumans, who saw little of each other during the hue and cry of the political campaign, were reunited here today for a quiet family reunion.

Against a background of world discord and concern over administrative affairs, the nation's first family gathered for 10 days together under the Florida sun.

Mrs. Truman and her daughter Margaret arrived from Washington after a streamliner trip to Miami and a drive over the colorful overseas highway to Key West. President Truman awaited them here, already tanned and refreshed by five days' rest.

Mr. Truman took care of some business before his family arrived. He ordered an inquiry into possible "red tape" delay in payment of government benefits to veterans.

He directed Secretary of Defense Forrestal and Veterans Administrator Carl R. Gray to conduct the inquiry and report back to him on steps to eliminate obstacles to quicker action on claims.

A case cited by Jerry Klutz, Washington Post columnist, prompted the order, Eben Ayers, assistant presidential press secretary, reported.

The southern "White House" withheld comment on a suggestion that the President call an immediate special session of Congress to consider aid for China.

It came from Sen. Bridges (R-NH), who said that unless American aid is made effective immediately Communists will take over the whole of China.

"Vigilantes" Appear
Mystery Woman Kindles Williamsport, Md., Scare

WILLIAMSPORT, Md., Nov. 12 (AP) — The appearance of a black-robed, veiled mystery woman kindled vigilante excitement in this small town today and its mayor appealed to citizens not to carry firearms.

"Some one may get hurt if this keeps up," Mayor Richard C. Hawken said, urging Williamsporters to co operate with police in tracking down the stranger.

The woman in black, police said, pounced on two women Sunday night to set off a wave of apprehension. Since then, she has been reported haunting several lonely, darkened sections of the town.

Police Chief William Shipley said the sinister-looking figure appeared only after dark. As a result, a lot of residents now stay home after sunset.

Mayor Hawken spoke up after Shipley reported to him that some Williamsporters had taken to carrying arms as self-appointed vigilantes.

As police made efforts to solve the mystery, a Girl Scout troop meeting set for this evening was moved up to afternoon. "We don't want innocent children to get hurt," the Mayor explained.

First report of the menacing stranger came from Mrs. Kenneth Shank and her sister-in-law, Hazel Shank. They told police they were walking home last Sunday when the mystery woman darted at them from behind a parked car.

"She had claw-like hands," Mrs. Shank says, "and tried to grab us."

The women's screams brought neighbors and a policeman to the scene, but the stranger fled down a side street and disappeared.

Halloween?

Shipley said Williamsport has had some scares on the night customarily set aside for spooks in the past four or five years, but nothing as frightening as this. Besides, Halloween was October 31.

Ex-Stripper Weeps
Gypsy Rose Lee And Club Disagree Over "Walkout"

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—A weeping Gypsy Rose Lee said today she got fired from her first Broadway night club job just because she asked for four weeks salary—$10,000—in advance.

But the management of the elegant basement known as "La Martinique" said the ex-stripper and novelist "simply walked out" and the club is going to sue her for $150,000 in lost profits.

Gypsy received reporters today wearing chartruese slacks and a candy-striped blouse. She frequently dabbed at tearful eyes with a handkerchief.

Her failure to open her show last night, she said, was "due to several things" and she was "all-fired mad" about all of them.

First, she said, the club opened two weks late and there weren't enough rehearsals.

Then she said, she asked for the advance on her salary, and the club manager told her he was not going to pay her salary "tonight or any other night."

The director of her union—the American Guild of Variety Artists—told her that meant she was fired. He stopped rehearsals.

"So I went home," said Gypsy, weeping again.

"La Martinique" opened last night with two fully-attired guest artists—Morey Amsterdam and Milton Berle. But 10 chorus girls were left with almost nothing to wear.

"Certainly I took those costumes," Gypsy said. "I made those panties myself, sewed my own lace and ribbon on them to make the girls in my act more attractive."

Could she describe the costumes?

"They consist of practically nothing," she said, "that's why they are so expensive."

War Hero Succeeded By Gen. Shtemenko

MOSCOW, Saturday, Nov. 13 (AP)—Gen. Sergei M. Shtemenko was promoted today to chief of staff of the Russian army. He replaces Marshal Alexander M. Vasilevsky who was relieved of his duties because of the burden of too much work.

Vasilevsky retained his job of first vice minister of the armed forces. Shtemenko was elevated from the rank of colonel general to general.

Warned Against Complacency

Three years ago, in a speech commemorating the 28th anniversary of the October revolution, Vasilevsky said:

"In international relations the Soviet Union occupies a worthy and becoming place. Democratic masses of other countries see in our nation a reliable stronghold of peace."

He warned the Red army against complacency saying "there can be no place for giddiness from success." Vasilevsky said history was full of examples of victorious armies losing their fame because of conceit, indifference or failure to learn.

Led Reds Against Japan

In September 1945, Vasilevsky was awarded a second gold star medal for leading the Russian armies against Japan. A Red army chief of staff before Russia declared war on Japan, he led the forces which liberated the Crimea, and later captured Koenigsburg in the drive to Berlin.

In March 1947, Vasilevsky was made first deputy to Marshal Nikolai A. Bulganin, minister of the Soviet armed forces, and now a member of the Politburo.

Rescuers Seek Entombed Man

LAMBERTVILLE, N. J., Nov. 12 (AP) — Sent into action by an appeal to Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll, rescue workers dug tonight through thousands of tons of rock in the slim hope of finding alive a man buried for five days in a landslide.

State Police Sgt. Jack Wallace and officials of the Lambertville Quarry Company, where 200,000 tons of rock gave way Monday, said "there isn't a chance" that Edgar S. Snyder, 64, survived the avalanche. They added it might be three weeks before the stone can be cleared away.

The body of another worker, Raymond Wellman, 48, was recovered Monday.

Driscoll acted after Snyder's four sons called on him at Trenton and expressed the belief their father might still be alive in a crevice among the boulders. They were Russell, Newark; Charles, Lehighton, Pa.; Earl, Wichita Falls, Tex., and Harold, Lambertville.

Nicholas J. McGowan, a company official, said "we have already violated every rule of safety in trying to reach the body."

McGowan said the only equipment available in New Jersey to remove the hundreds of boulders at the base of the 185-foot, open-faced quarry is a massive electric shovel already at the scene.

This was damaged in Monday's fall and cannot be repaired for two or three days.

"Vigilantes" Appear
Mystery Woman Kindles Williamsport, Md., Scare

WILLIAMSPORT, Md., Nov. 12 (AP) — The appearance of a black-robed, veiled mystery woman kindled vigilante excitement in this small town today and its mayor appealed to citizens not to carry firearms.

"Some one may get hurt if this keeps up," Mayor Richard C. Hawken said, urging Williamsporters to co operate with police in tracking down the stranger.

The woman in black, police said, pounced on two women Sunday night to set off a wave of apprehension. Since then, she has been reported haunting several lonely, darkened sections of the town.

Police Chief William Shipley said the sinister-looking figure appeared only after dark. As a result, a lot of residents now stay home after sunset.

Mayor Hawken spoke up after Shipley reported to him that some Williamsporters had taken to carrying arms as self-appointed vigilantes.

As police made efforts to solve the mystery, a Girl Scout troop meeting set for this evening was moved up to afternoon. "We don't want innocent children to get hurt," the Mayor explained.

First report of the menacing stranger came from Mrs. Kenneth Shank and her sister-in-law, Hazel Shank. They told police they were walking home last Sunday when the mystery woman darted at them from behind a parked car.

"She had claw-like hands," Mrs. Shank says, "and tried to grab us."

The women's screams brought neighbors and a policeman to the scene, but the stranger fled down a side street and disappeared.

Halloween?

Shipley said Williamsport has had some scares on the night customarily set aside for spooks in the past four or five years, but nothing as frightening as this. Besides, Halloween was October 31.

Soviet Union Wages Propaganda Peace Offensive, Marshall Says

Secretary Declares Aim Is To Undermine U. S. World Position

PARIS, Nov. 12 (AP)—Secretary of State George C. Marshall declared today Russia is waging a propaganda peace offensive with the real aim of wrecking the world position of the United States.

Russia's action in spreading a report of a suggested Truman-Stalin meeting is part of this propaganda drive, Marshall said.

He gave his views at an extraordinary news conference at the same time his deputy delegate, Frederick H. Osborn, accused Soviet leaders of carrying on a second type of propaganda to prepare the Russian people for war. Osborn blasted at Russia during debate on the disarmament issue in the Political Committee of the United Nations Assembly.

Marshall said Soviet propaganda in the United Nations has not been successful. The great majority of nations in the world organization, he continued, have lined up solidly in their opinions on the world situation.

The Secretary defined propaganda peace offensives as procedures designed to play upon the general desire for peace with the real purpose of wrecking the position of the United States.

Dangerous Practice

Such propaganda efforts are very dangerous, he continued, because everyone sincerely wants peace but not mere propaganda for peace.

The Secretary talked for about 90 minutes to about 30 American newsmen crowded into the press room of the United States delegation to the United Nations. He ranged over the world in his comments but the majority of his remarks were strictly off the record—that is, not for publication in any way.

He withheld permission to use any of his remarks—except when attributed to a "leading United Nations delegate"—until he had checked the long transcript. Then about six hours after the conference a condensed version of his statements was read out to newsmen by an American delegation spokesman. The spokesman said Marshall still did not permit direct quotations.

In brief Marshall said:

1. The Russians grabbed up suggestions that President Truman and Prime Minister Stalin meet and used them for propaganda.

2. Russian propaganda in the United Nations Assembly has not been successful. That is one reason why Stalin issued his interview last month accusing United States leaders of being aggressors.

3. The eastern bloc and the Communists increase their efforts to obstruct and destroy the European recovery plan each time it makes a forward step.

ERP Making Big Headway

4. The European recovery program has made greater progress than is generally realized.

5. The United States is detemined that the Berlin airlift will go ahead as long as is necessary.

6. The United States is looking to the six neutral countries in the United Nations Security Council to see what they might propose in the Berlin crisis.

7. The Greek problem is just one part of the big, world-wide problem affecting Russian-United States relations.

Reports of the possibility of a meeting between President Truman and Prime Minister Stalin to discuss world problems snowballed this week after a Washington Times-Herald columnist said such a conference might be held.

The column was picked up by Tass, the Soviet news agency, and given prominent play in the newspapers of Russia and her satellites. White House aides with Mr. Truman at Key West, Fla., said the President has stated repeatedly he would be glad to talk to Stalin any time the Soviet leader wishes to visit the United States. Mr. Truman also has said he will not leave the United States again for such a meeting.

MISSING B-29, CREW SIGHTED ON ISLAND

SPOKANE, Nov. 12. (AP)—The crew of a B-29 bomber reported missing early today has been sighted beside the crashed plane on a Pacific island atoll, the Spokane Air Force base commander said tonight.

Col. James E. Briggs said he had learned in a telephone conversation with Air Force officials in Japan the crew of the missing bomber was sighted from the air and a Navy destroyer is steaming toward the island.

The plane, one from the 98th Bomb Group on temporary duty from its Spokane base was declared missing while searching for another B-29 in the area of Guam.

Mine Fire Still Rages

CARBON GLOW, Ky., Nov. 12 (AP) —A fire which has burned for more than 36 hours in the Carbon Glow Coal Company drift mine here was reported still out of control late tonight. Mine Superintendent H. E. Dixon said about 50 men had been fighting the fire around the clock.

FIRED, SHE SAYS-- Gypsy Rose Lee, ex-stripper and novelist, displays some of the chorus costumes she took with her when she left the Broadway night club "La Martinique" where her show failed to open Thursday night. She said yesterday she did not appear for the opening because she was fired for asking four weeks salary—$10,000—in advance. The club management says she "simply walked out" and will sue her for $150,000 in lost profits. With her at her press conference in her apartment in New York is her pet dog, "Georgetta." 7 Jap Warlords, Including Tojo, Doomed To Hang

TOKYO, Nov. 12. (AP)—Hideki Tojo was sentenced today to hang as chief of the criminal Japanese military clique whose dream of ruthless conquest wrecked their own country and tumbled all East Asia into chaos.

Six of his fellow conspirators were sentenced to the gallows with him. No execution date was fixed.

Sixteen got life imprisonment; one a 20-year term, and another seven years. The tribunal president, Sir William Webb, of Australia, filed a separate opinion stating in effect that Emperor Hirohito—not on trial—was morally responsible but politically immune.

Tojo was premier of Japan from Oct. 17, 1941, to July 18, 1944—from before Pearl Harbor to Japan's shattering loss of Saipan. He personified the Japanese enemy to most of the Allies far more than Hirohito ever did.

After hearing his death sentence, he told his Japanese attorney he was "very glad" the Emperor had not been involved in war guilt.

Surprised At Some Sentences

The attorney, Ichiro Kirose, said Tojo also repeated his "impression that this was a trial by the victor," and was surprised at some of the sentences because he had felt that he would be held "solely responsible" for launching the war.

None of the 25 defendants was acquitted by the 11-nation international military tribunal which spent two and one-half years trying them.

After the interminable months of wordy trial, it took just 21 tense and dramatic minutes for the court to convict and pronounce sentence on the men who tried to fashion

Younger Nemes Proves Nemesis To Older Nemes

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 12 (AP) —Three-year-old Charles Nemes III said six words November 8, but his father was not proud. His father was arrested.

The elder Nemes, Charles Jr., was charged with bookmaking. In court today, a police judge fined him $100 for possession of lottery slips and held him in $1,500 bail on other gambling counts.

Nemes Jr. was arrested November 8 after police chased his car from Trenton to nearby Hamilton Township. There, police testified, they stopped the car and found several lottery slips in the pockets of his small son.

The six words Charles III said were:

Chrysler Labor Dispute Settled

DETROIT, Nov. 12 (AP)—A production dispute which had idled 13,500 workers in four Detroit area plants of Chrysler Corporation was settled late today and back-to-work orders went out to the men.

Chrysler officials said that all but 1,200 of the men would go back on their jobs Monday, with the rest due to report Tuesday.

An additional 150 machine operators walked out in sympathy and other walkouts and layoffs followed.

Company officials said they had reached agreement with the UAW today to put the dispute issues through regular grievance procedure and that hearings would be held next week.

Ex-Stripper Weeps
Gypsy Rose Lee And Club Disagree Over "Walkout"

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—A weeping Gypsy Rose Lee said today she got fired from her first Broadway night club job just because she asked for four weeks salary—$10,000—in advance.

But the management of the elegant basement known as "La Martinique" said the ex-stripper and novelist "simply walked out" and the club is going to sue her for $150,000 in lost profits.

Her failure to open her show last night, she said, was "due to several things" and she was "all-fired mad" about all of them.

First, she said, the club opened two weks late and there weren't enough rehearsals.

Then she said, she asked for the advance on her salary, and the club manager told her he was not going to pay her salary "tonight or any other night."

The director of her union—the American Guild of Variety Artists—told her that meant she was fired. He stopped rehearsals.

"So I went home," said Gypsy, weeping again.

"La Martinique" opened last night with two fully-attired guest artists—Morey Amsterdam and Milton Berle. But 10 chorus girls were left with almost nothing to wear.

"Certainly I took those costumes," Gypsy said. "I made those panties myself, sewed my own lace and ribbon on them to make the girls in my act more attractive."

Could she describe the costumes?

"They consist of practically nothing," she said, "that's why they are so expensive."

Longshoremen Launch Strike For More Pay

Marshall Plan Aid Hit; Rail Freight Embargo Ordered

NEW YORK, Nov. 13 (Saturday) (AP)—A longshoremen's strike expected to tie up docks from Maine to Virginia became effective at 12:01 a. m. today.

The walkout threatens to paralyze a large segment of the nation's multi-million-dollar shipping industry. But effects were not expected to be widespread until Monday because of a normal weekend lull in ship-loading activities.

A New Orleans official of the AFL International Longshoremen's Association said dock workers there would abide by an agreement running through December 9.

Galveston workers were expected to stand by a similar agreement and a Gulfport, Miss., shipping official said no strike action was contemplated by union men there.

Joseph P. Ryan, president of the union, who ordered the East Coast strike, said he didn't intend to call out the South and Gulf port workers now.

Army Goods To Be Moved

He added, however, that "they'll come out if we need them. So far there's no need of help from that source, and there's no use involving anyone else in our troubles."

He also said the East Coast strikers would assist only in the movement of Army shipments, not including Marshall Plan aid as was previously announced.

"As long as we're having a strike, let's have a strike," he said without further comment or explanation.

It had been reported that Gulf Coast workers would go out in sympathy. This would have meant a virtual nationwide shipping tieup, since the West Coast has been shut down some time by strikes there.

There are 65,000 workers in the AFL group ordered out on the East Coast. Several thousand already had quit. The strike follows membership rejection of a new wage agreement and other contract provisions worked out earlier this week by union and employer representatives.

Earlier, Ryan said:

"The President will have to get into this thing."

Ryan told a news conference that he and his negotiating committee had expected to receive an appeal from Washington requesting a 15 or 20-day back-to-work period while a board was formed with power to recommend solutions to the dispute.

Rail Embargo Ordered

He added, however, that "our men are not in the mood to go back to work for 20 days."

John V. Loyons, chairman of the New York Shipping Association, the employer group, told reporters after a meeting with union representatives and two federal conciliators that "they (union leader) told us our proposals had been rejected, and we told them we had no further concessions to make."

Announcement of the rejection of the wage settlement by the East Coast longshoremen followed shortly an order by the Association of American Railroads halting shipment to New York and Boston of nearly all freight for export.

The embargo becomes effective tomorrow.

Plans For Defense Pact Move Ahead

LONDON, Nov. 12 (AP)—Plans for a North Atlantic defense pact calling for United States and Canadian military support if Western Europe is attacked moved swiftly ahead today.

The permanent committee of the Brussels pact powers — Britain, France, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg — met in secrecy to draft an alliance proposal which they hoped would be acceptable to the United States and Canada.

United States Defense Secretary James Forrestal arrived in London from Paris for conferences with Prime Minister Clement Attlee and United States military representatives.

Persistent reports circulated in diplomatic circles that Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin will attend a transatlatic pact conference which Washington and Ottawa sources predict will write the final text of the treaty before Christmas in the American capital.

In Paris, a French Foreign Ministry spokesman said France and Belgium have offered drafts of a proposed alliance. The French proposal would bind the United States to defend Western Europe for 50 years. A committee of all powers of the alliance would consult on the day of an attack, and decide the nature of aid.

The problem of the Western European pact writers is to find a draft suitable to the United States and Canada. By tradition the United States dislikes military alliances. Even with the Pan-American countries, it is committed only to "consultations" if one of them is attacked.

Woman Is Found Slain In Allentown Cemetery

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Nov. 12. (AP)—The mutilated, nude body of a soldier's wife was found today in a central city alley a half block from a cemetery where police said she apparently went with her murderer.

Police Chief James Christine identified the woman as Mrs. Mary V. Avalon, 26, Allentown, wife of Private First Class George L. Avalon. Army records in Washington show that Avalon is assigned to the Headquarters Alaska General Depot, Fort Richardson, Alaska.

Christine said "it looks very much like the work of a sex pervert but we are unable to say definitely at this time."

A man is being questioned in connection with the slaying but no charge has been filed against him, Christine said.

15 More Germans Are Hanged At Landsberg

MUNICH, Germany, Nov. 12 (AP)—Fifteen former guards at the Mauthausen concentration camp were hanged at Landsberg Prison today. An American war crimes court had convicted them of slaying more than 4,600 wartime inmates of the camp, including 47 American and British airmen.

The executions raised to 58 the number of convicted German war criminals hanged at Landsberg in the past month. Still facing execution are 81 of an original list of 139.

back at any time, without necessarily a call by the President.

There was no indication that Bridges had approached those leaders to exercise their power. House Speaker Martin left this morning for Massachusetts, his office reported.

Acts On Own Initiative

At Des Moines, Bridges said he had "discussed' the calling of a special session with various Republican leaders, but acted upon his own initiative in urging the President to summon the lawmakers to Washington.

The 81st Congress, under Democratic control, is to convene January 3.

Bridges has demanded again and again that America take steps to bolster the Chinese government's defenses against the Communist hordes which have overrun the north of that vast country and now are threatening Nanking and Shanghai.

He is chairman of the "watchdog" committee established by the 80th Congress to check on the operation of the United States program of economic aid. Only Tuesday, that committee dispatched William C. Bullitt, former ambassador to Russia, on a special mission to China to make a first-hand survey of conditions there.

Princess, Expecting Baby Soon, Dines Out

LONDON, Nov. 12 (AP)—Princess Elizabeth, who is expecting the arrival of her baby this weekend, left Buckingham Palace tonight to visit friends.

The Princess and her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, motored a mile to the home of Lord and Lady Brabourne, where they dined. Elizabeth was a bridesmaid at the Brabournes' wedding in 1946.

Several hundred sightseers were pleased at the glimpse of the Princess. Crowds before the palace have been growing larger every day this week.

Md. Progressives Will "Carry On" As Party

BALTIMORE, Nov. 12 (AP)—Members of the executive committee of the Progressive Party of Maryland announced today that they had voted unanimously to "carry on as a permanent party" in the state.

Henry A. Wallace, the Pregressive Party candidate for President, received 9,939 of the 596,705 votes cast by Marylanders for President.

Leaders of the Maryland Progressives said they retain "full confidence in Henry Wallace and the national party."

Gen. MacArthur, commander of the Allied occupation of defeated Japan, set November 19 as the deadline for an appeals. MacArthur is the sole reviewing authority. He has power to reduce but not to increase sentences. MacArthur called a conference of the Allied council and heads of all Allied missions for November 22. His final decision, and possibly the execution date, is expected after that meeting.

Tojo, the slight, bald little man whose arrogant cunning won him the Japanese nickname "The Razor," scorned in advance any plea for clemency from the man who engineered his defeat.

Anticipated Death Sentence

Anticipating the death sentence he got, he told his attorney to make an appeal based on his contention that Japan fought in self-defense, but positively not to ask MacArthur's mercy.

In addition to Tojo, those sentenced to hang were Gens. Kenji Doihara, Seishiro Itagaki, Heitaro Kimura, Iwane Matsui, Akiro Muto and former Premier Koki Hirota.

Life sentences went to Gen. Sadao Araki, Col. Kingoro Hashimoto, Gen. Shundroku Hata, former Premier Kiichiro Hiranuma, former Cabinet member Naoki Hoshino, Marquis Koichi Kido, Gen. Kuniaki Koiso.

Gen. Jiro Minami, Adm. Takasumi, Oaka, former Ambassador Hiroshi Oshima, Gen. Kenryo Sato, Adm. Shigetaro Shimada, former Finance Minister Okinori Kaya, former Ambassador Toshio Shiratori, Gen. Teiichi Suzuki and Gen. Yoshijiro Umezu.

Shigenori Togo got 20 years and peg-legged Mamoru Shigemitsu seven years. Both these former foreign ministers will get time off for the nearly three years already served. Aged and ailing, neither seems likely to survive his remaining term.

Big Dog Defies Eviction Attempts After Taking Possession Of Auto

There had been some misunderstanding of ownership yesterday as far as Murphy was concerned.

A night worker in a bakery, Murphy arose late yesterday morning and discovered a big, stray dog had taken possession of this automobile.

The dog snarled so savagely that Murphy took a hasty glance at the registration certificate to make sure that he had brought home the right automobile. He had.

So Murphy opened all four doors and tried to coax the dog out. He wouldn't budge. Murphy got a broom and tried to push him out.

"All he'd do was jump from the back seat to the front seat," Murphy said.

Murphy tried the friendly approach. He and the dog got on such personal terms that the dog would let Murphy sit in the seat with him.

"But every time I tried to ease him out of the car while sitting with him, he growled me out of the notion," Murphy said.

Joe Ford, 15, offered his services.

He opened the car's four doors and hid in the bushes by the house.

The dog got out of the car, shook himself, stretched.

"But when Joe made a dash to slam the car doors," Murphy said, "That dog beat him to the car."

Murphy grew weary of matching wits with the dog as evening drew near. So he fed him, left the car doors open and went into eat his own evening meal.

An hour or so later when he came out, the dog was gone. Murphy slammed the doors shut.

5,000 Tons Of Small Arm Ammunition Sent To China

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12. (AP)—The Defense Department announced today an initial shipment of arms to China has been made. It consists of a 5,000-ton cargo of small arms ammunition.

The office of Secretary Forrestal issued this statement:

"A consignment of approximately 5,000 tons of small arms ammunition has been shipped from the United States to the Chinese government under terms of the China Aid Act of 1948. Additional shipments will be made in the near future."

The official announcement did not say when or from what port the shipment was made.

24-Hour General Strike Is Launched In Paris

PARIS, Saturday, Nov. 13 (AP) — A 24-hour general strike in Paris and the suburbs began at midnight Friday.

It was called by Communist labor leaders. They said it was their answer to what they termed police brutality in an Armistice Day clash of the Champs Elysees between police and demonstrators.

Police said yesterday 95 policemen and 45 demonstrators were injured in the outbreak.

The office of Secretary Forrestal issued this statement:

"A consignment of approximately 5,000 tons of small arms ammunition has been shipped from the United States to the Chinese government under terms of the China Aid Act of 1948. Additional shipments will be made in the near future."

The official announcement did not say when or from what port the shipment was made.

24-Hour General Strike Is Launched In Paris

PARIS, Saturday, Nov. 13 (AP) — A 24-hour general strike in Paris and the suburbs began at midnight Friday.

It was called by Communist labor leaders. They said it was their answer to what they termed police brutality in an Armistice Day clash of the Champs Elysees between police and demonstrators.

Police said yesterday 95 policemen and 45 demonstrators were injured in the outbreak.

Big Dog Defies Eviction Attempts After Taking Possession Of Auto

There had been some misunderstanding of ownership yesterday as far as Murphy was concerned.

A night worker in a bakery, Murphy arose late yesterday morning and discovered a big, stray dog had taken possession of this automobile.

The dog snarled so savagely that Murphy took a hasty glance at the registration certificate to make sure that he had brought home the right automobile. He had.

So Murphy opened all four doors and tried to coax the dog out. He wouldn't budge. Murphy got a broom and tried to push him out.

"All he'd do was jump from the back seat to the front seat," Murphy said.

Murphy tried the friendly approach. He and the dog got on such personal terms that the dog would let Murphy sit in the seat with him.

"But every time I tried to ease him out of the car while sitting with him, he growled me out of the notion," Murphy said.

Joe Ford, 15, offered his services.

He opened the car's four doors and hid in the bushes by the house.

The dog got out of the car, shook himself, stretched.

"But when Joe made a dash to slam the car doors," Murphy said, "That dog beat him to the car."

Murphy grew weary of matching wits with the dog as evening drew near. So he fed him, left the car doors open and went into eat his own evening meal.

An hour or so later when he came out, the dog was gone. Murphy slammed the doors shut.

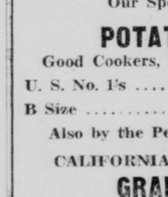
Make Your Plans Now If You Plan Going To College

By NANCY MOTTRAM

(Q) "Dear Nancy: I'm in my senior year of high school, and my family and I have been talking about college next fall. They want me to go away to school, and I'd like to, but I haven't the slightest idea of what to study. I haven't any definite career in mind, and though I've thought about several, I can't decide. Could you give me any advice?"



Nancy Mottram

(A) If you really intend to go to college, you'd better start making your plans. Schools are crowded these days, and it's no longer a simple matter of sending in your application and being accepted. First, give some serious thought to the subjects you'd like to take. In choosing your future career, think about what type of work would interest you most and whether you're really qualified for it. Because, unless you have the ambition as well as the ability, you won't make a success in that field. And don't wait until two months before you go to make up your mind.

• — • — •

(Q) "Dear Nancy: Just before my brother left to join the army, he became engaged to a girl I hardly know. Since he's been gone, I know for a fact that she's been dating other boys. I don't think my brother knows about this, and I don't want to be the one to tell him, but naturally, I don't want to see him hurt. Should I stay out of this altogether or try to do something about it? Please help me."

(A) It's not wise to mix in other people's lives. Still, an engagement is serious, and going out with someone else while her fiance is away is not in the rules. The only thing you could do without getting involved in their affairs is to ask her some day if she and your brother are still engaged. That would imply that you know about the other dates and she might try to explain. If it isn't cleared up, you'd better wait until he comes home and let them settle this themselves.

(Q) "Dear Nancy: I broke up with a boy I had been going steady with because my parents didn't like him. After we stopped seeing each other, he broke up his best friend's romance and began dating his girl. Now, none of our crowd will speak to him, except me. Lately, he's been calling me and telling me that he still cares for me, but he still dates the other girl. I think that he plans to ask me for a date very soon and I'd like to know what to say to him."

(A) If you really want to see him again, go ahead and date him. But as long as he's on bad terms with both your parents and your crowd, think twice before you say yes. Instead of starting up a romance that has so many complications attached, why not pass him by and start to date other boys? You wouldn't have so many problems to worry about and it would be best all the way around.

If you have a school, family or friend problem, Nancy can help you. Letters are answered in this column.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

This Day

Many of the most significant things in life we give so small note to—the new day, for example. Most of us take it as a matter of course. We go to sleep at night expecting that we will open our eyes on a new day. And we usually do. There are some who do not.

To me the new day is always a thing of wonder—actually a miracle. For long hours I am lost in sleep. All the doors to consciousness have been closed. Then suddenly I awake, with not even the memory of a dream. But the light of a new day streams into my room. No other day exactly like it, none other ever to duplicate it. This day—unique!

The first thing upon awakening in the morning should be to express our thankfulness to God for the privilege of another day, and for the opportunity to do something of moment and to help someone else to be thankful for the day. How little any of us ever know about the possibilities that a single day may reveal!

If we could only impress ourselves with the fact that this day will never dawn again, its significance would be impressed upon us with such power that we would do our best to make it outstanding to the full extent of our ability.

When we think of how many great events have transpired, and how many great thoughts have been uttered and expressed in a single day, each of us may be inspired to do our best to make both the day and ourselves important and notable. How many a single poem has been written in the space of a few hours in a single day—but to last into centuries of time! How we should reach for and hang to this day of ours, so that as it leaves it will take something of us along with it into the years ahead.

Yesterday is a memory, and tomorrow is but a dream. This is today. It's full of equipment — hope, beauty, love, joy, laughter, encouragement and assurance. Take hold upon each hour, and ride it out! Then part with it—with a smile.

(A) If you really intend to go to college, you'd better start making your plans. Schools are crowded these days, and it's no longer a simple matter of sending in your application and being accepted. First, give some serious thought to the subjects you'd like to take. In choosing your future career, think about what type of work would interest you most and whether you're really qualified for it. Because, unless you have the ambition as well as the ability, you won't make a success in that field. And don't wait until two months before you go to make up your mind.

(Q) "Dear Nancy: Just before my brother left to join the army, he became engaged to a girl I hardly know. Since he's been gone, I know for a fact that she's been dating other boys. I don't think my brother knows about this, and I don't want to be the one to tell him, but naturally, I don't want to see him hurt. Should I stay out of this altogether or try to do something about it? Please help me."

(A) It's not wise to mix in other people's lives. Still, an engagement is serious, and going out with someone else while her fiance is away is not in the rules. The only thing you could do without getting involved in their affairs is to ask her some day if she and your brother are still engaged. That would imply that you know about the other dates and she might try to explain. If it isn't cleared up, you'd better wait until he comes home and let them settle this themselves.

(Q) "Dear Nancy: I broke up with a boy I had been going steady with because my parents didn't like him. After we stopped seeing each other, he broke up his best friend's romance and began dating his girl. Now, none of our crowd will speak to him, except me. Lately, he's been calling me and telling me that he still cares for me, but he still dates the other girl. I think that he plans to ask me for a date very soon and I'd like to know what to say to him."

(A) If you really want to see him again, go ahead and date him. But as long as he's on bad terms with both your parents and your crowd, think twice before you say yes. Instead of starting up a romance that has so many complications attached, why not pass him by and start to date other boys? You wouldn't have so many problems to worry about and it would be best all the way around.

If you have a school, family or friend problem, Nancy can help you. Letters are answered in this column.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

This Day

Many of the most significant things in life we give so small note to—the the new day, for example. Most of us take it as a matter of course. We go to sleep at night expecting that we will open our eyes on a new day. And we usually do. There are some who do not.

To me the new day is always a thing of wonder—actually a miracle. For long hours I am lost in sleep. All the doors to consciousness have been closed. Then suddenly I awake, with not even the memory of a dream. But the light of a new day streams into my room. No other day exactly like it, none other ever to duplicate it. This day—unique!

The first thing upon awakening in the morning should be to express our thankfulness to God for the privilege of another day, and for the opportunity to do something of moment and to help someone else to be thankful for the day. How little any of us ever know about the possibilities that a single day may reveal!

If we could only impress ourselves with the fact that this day will never dawn again, its significance would be impressed upon us with such power that we would do our best to make it outstanding to the full extent of our ability.

When we think of how many great events have transpired, and how many great thoughts have been uttered and expressed in a single day, each of us may be inspired to do our best to make both the day and ourselves important and notable. How many a single poem has been written in the space of a few hours in a single day—but to last into centuries of time! How we should reach for and hang to this day of ours, so that as it leaves it will take something of us along with it into the years ahead.

Yesterday is a memory, and tomorrow is but a dream. This is today. It's full of equipment — hope, beauty, love, joy, laughter, encouragement and assurance. Take hold upon each hour, and ride it out! Then part with it—with a smile.

Is Rep. Thomas Facing The Fate Of His Predecessors?

From 1930 on there has always been a House committee to investigate subversive activities. It has had several chairmen. At first it was a special committee set up by each House; now it is a standing committee. While it has made some breaks, it has performed a great public service. What it has discovered and what Soviet Russia has done are jointly responsible for the conviction of the American people that Communism is a major menace.

The most astounding testimony it has developed came to light this year in August—the charge that "fellow-travelers" were, or had been, in the National Labor Relations Board and in key posts in the State, Treasury and Agriculture Departments.

In view of this indubitable service, it is a singular fact that the chairmen of these successive House committees have either been driven from public life or violently assailed. Hamilton Fish, of an up-state New York district, appointed chairman in 1930 of a special House Committee to Investigate Communist Activities in the United States was the first victim. The avowed grievance of his assailants was not that he was anti-Communist; they got him, as an "Isolationist." The next chairman of a similar House committee—and the next victim—was Martin Dies of Texas, who withdrew from the Democratic district primary when he saw his defeat was in the cards. The avowed grievance of his CIO opponents was not that he was anti-Communist; he was "anti-labor," they said.

The third chairman in this category is Representative J. Parnell Thomas of New Jersey, whose inquiries had disclosed the startling infiltration of Communists into the highest government posts. He has been indicted on charges of conspiring to pad the payroll of his congressional office—a practice not unheard of on the part of other members, but heretofore ignored. Is that the root of the matter? Until the charges alleged are sustained in his trial, we suspend judgment as to his guilt or innocence. So should everybody else.

Trend Toward Right Is Noted In Europe Election

While not unexpected, Gen. de Gaulle's victory and the defeat of Communism in the election of a new French upper house went far beyond all predictions. The de Gaulle Rally of the French People, which holds no seats in the present Council of the Republic (Senate), emerges with at least 100 seats out of 259. The Socialists won fewer than half that number. The Communists have declined from 84 seats to only 16. While this voting was not by direct popular ballot but rather by electoral colleges representing local governments all over the country, it reflects the recent sharp swing away from the Left in France.

The same trend has lately been apparent all over Western Europe. In fact, the movement is not only away from the extremes of leftism, it is in several important instances a movement toward the right.

In France, the "third force" government of middle and mildly left parties, is politically bankrupt and awaits only a national election to drop from sight. In Belgium today the government is deeply worried lest the demands of the Marshall Plan force upon the country a planned economy which it does not want. Belgium today has a liberal capitalist economy, with a minimum of governmental direction. Capitalism is working there, as socialism has not been working in France. The Brussels government and the people are afraid of pressure from countries that regard state planning as a virtue in itself.

In the Netherlands, too, the recent political trend has been toward the Right. And in Britain popular criticism of the "socialization of industry" program has reached the point where many Labor M. P.'s privately admit the danger of a Conservative election victory in 1950.

These developments abroad do not prove that liberal capitalism is right and state socialism is wrong. But they do prove that those "liberal" writers who now hail the Truman victory as proof that "the United States is following the left-ward trend in Europe" have not been following current history very carefully.

Grief Invited Over The Penny Postal Card

One of the prerogatives—if not, indeed, one of the duties—of the Postmaster General is to complain from time to time about the chronic deficit in his department and suggest ways and means of curing it. Postmaster General Donaldson respects this tradition when he points out that the postal system is costing more than $2,000,000,000 this year, with your Uncle Sam $550,000,000 in the red. We share his sense of dismay, for which the sole relief is the fact that the postal system is essentially an accommodation service, which is not expected to pay its way. But Mr. Donaldson is asking for grief of another kind when he suggests that the price of the penny postal card ought to be doubled.

Coming from the manager of a private business that would be a proper, though egreiously tardy, proposal. The cost of each card, from mailing, through the complicated process of handling and delivery anywhere in the United States, is 2.6 cents. That means a loss of 160 per cent on each card. For any business enterprise this would mean bankruptcy quick and sure. But, we repeat, nobody expects the Postoffice Department to show a profit. If the regular users of these cards—who, in our experience, are comprised chiefly of writers of Letters to the Editor—had to plunk down two cents each time, there would be a cry of protest resounding from the Statute of Liberty to the Golden Gate.

Not only is the postal card a convenient adjunct of living, it has become a treasured relic of the pre-inflationary past. So long as it endures—a miniature monument to Service at 260 Per Cent of Cost—the American public can feel that the times are not utterly out of joint.

Besides, as Mr. Donaldson would not deny, first-class mail, including all the penny postal cards, still manages to pay its way.

Life is full of disappointments. The claim a botfly could travel 800 miles an hour has been exploded. Actual speed is 25 miles, indicating the botfly is simply an insect Model T.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Additional Allergy Remedies

New drugs for the treatment of allergies are coming on the market so fast that it is difficult to keep up with the advances. Some are near relatives of the original products, benadryl and pyribenzamine, which were introduced during the last five years; others have entirely different chemical formulas but act on the same principle.

Dr. Van Dellen

At any rate, some will undoubtedly prove to be better than others but a year or more will be required to separate the wheat from the chaff.

The products are called "antihistaminics" because they neutralize the histamine in our bodies. The latter substance is thought to be responsible for the changes in the tissues which cause hives, asthma, hay fever, and various other disturbances of an allergic nature. The plan of attack is theoretically sound and the modern preparations are giving the old stand-bys, ephedrine and adrenalin, a good run for their money. But research will contiue since the perfect remedy is yet to be discovered. No one drug can boast of alleviating every case of allergy. Furthermore, a certain percentage of users of the new products are bound to develop reactions but we should not belittle their value because the percentage of success is high and the untoward effects are few.

Trimenton, one of the newcomers, was tried by Brown and his colleagues on 227 patients. It was beneficial in 83 per cent; results were excellent in 1 per cent and moderate in 22 per cent. Victims of hay fever seemed to respond best; nine out of ten who used the agent were relieved. In addition, 81 per cent of hives and bronchial asthma suffers were helped. It was encouraging to note that only a few encounted unpleasant reactions, consisting mainly of drowiness. Such manifestations were severe in only two instances; in 15, they were uncomfortable enough to discontinue treatment.

Several reports have appeared on thephorin. Frank found the drug most useful in alleviating distress from nasal allergies and, in over 50 per cent, the results were dramatic; an additional number obtained partial relief, raising the percentage to 80. These individuals were bothered with sneezing, nasal discharge, and congestion because they were sensitive to pollen, dust, or other inhalant. But in 39 per cent, uncomfortable reactions occurred. Most of this group complained of insomnia and nervousness which differ from symptoms produced by the other anti-histaminics. Apparently thephorin has a stimulating rather than a depressing influence on the body. This is rarely serious enough to discontinue the product. Moreover, it is easily combated by administering a mild sedative simultaneously.

Antistine is another improved compound. According to Hughes, it appears to be more effective in acute allergic disorders, but is less successful in asthma and eczema. The drug may be taken in tablet form or incorporated into a solution to be injected beneath the skin, or as drops inserted into the nose or eyes.

CONTINUALLY IRRITATED

F. C. writes: Why does it take so long to cure duodenal ulcer?

Reply

It's the nature of the beast. After all, it would be difficult to cure an open sore on the hand if the lesion were irritated constantly by acid. In addition, the wall of the stomach is in motion just like the skin surrounding the knuckles.

SINUSITIS

J. K. S. writes: Will you please explain what sinusitis is?

Reply

Inflamation of one or more of the sinuses surrounding the nose. These hollow cavities connect with the nasal passageways by a tiny tube which allows air to pass in and out with each breath. When inflammations sets in, the outlet is obstructed and the secretion cannot escape. Relief is obtained after drainage is re-established.

DE-FRECKLING

A. N. writes: Is there any way to get rid of freckles, by operation or other means?

Reply

Surgery is not advised since these spots usually disappear spontaneously during the winter time. Meanwhile, if there is any reason to cover them, this can be done with cosmetics.

Canned Juice

Mrs. F. O. writes: After opening a can of fruit juice, is it safe to keep the open can in the refrigerator for future use?

Reply

Yes, altho in some instances the acid in the material is affected. This in turn may alter the taste somewhat.

PARALYSIS AGITANS

T. D. writes: I would appreciate your telling me what Parkinson's disease is.

Reply

In this disorder, there is degeneration of certain cells of the brain and spinal cord, leading to tremor of the hands and head, stiffness and loss of coordination of the muscles of the arms and legs, and staring expression of the face. Most victims are elderly but now and then the disease occurs earlier in life in those who have encountered encephalitis.

HYPOGLYCEMIA

R. T. writes: Could chronic low blood sugar be responsible for muscular weakness?

Reply

Yes, but in the strict sense there is no such thing as "chronic" low blood sugar. Even in those with the lowest percentage, the readings fluctuate from hour to hour. The level is usually high immediately after eating.

French "Thank You" Train Gathering Gifts; Pat Hurley's "Gallantry" Underestimated; Salary Kickbacks Should Not Be Confused With Nepotism

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 — Just one year ago this week the Friendship Train traveled across the American continent gathering food for the then hungry people of Europe. Today, one year later, a similar train is traveling through France gathering gifts for the American people.

The French train is called the "Thank You Train," and consists of 49 boxcars ("40 men, 8 horses') —the kind American troops rode in during World War I.

These boxcars are being filled with gifts for the American people and one car will be left in each of the 48 states. The 49th car will go to the District of Columbia for transmission to the territory of Hawaii, which contributed an average of eight cents apiece from every man, woman and child in Honolulu to the original Friendship Train.

The French Thank You Train is coming not from the government of France but from the French people. It is being organized by Commandant Guy de la Vasselais, who served as liaison officer on General Patton's staff and is an old friend of Americans. Several million French war veterans are contributing to make the Thank You Train a success.

The gifts in the 49 cars will not include food, luxuries or wine. Instead, they will be chosen from products which are typically French and will include several monuments, portraits, wood carvings, china, pottery, bells and native costumes. While the French are leaving it to the individual Friendship Train committees in the United States as to how the gifts will be disposed, it has been suggested that some of them may be suitable for American museums, colleges and schools.

The American railroads, which were such an important factor in making the Friendship Train possible, have patriotically offered to carry the French train free through various parts of the United States.

Apologies To Pat Hurley

On October 25, 1948, this column published an account of how ex-Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley received a decoration for "gallantry in action" on the morning of November 11, 1918, the day World War I ended.

Further information has now come to hand regarding this decoration, and we now wish to apologize to Mr. Hurley.

The information comes from Col. Wilbur Rogers, formerly of the 77th Field Artillery, Third Division. Col. Rogers is the officer who stopped Hurley en route to the front lines and told him the war was practically over and that he was not needed at the front. Hurley was a member of the Judge Advocate General's office—in other words, an Army laywer whose duty was behind the lines.

Col. Rogers now points out that the "cease fire" order had been called and circulated before he ever went up to the front in order to get his decoration for "gallantry in action." Therefore, concludes Col. Rogers, Hurley actually got the medal for action after he knew the war was over.

Col. Rogers also reports that Hurley later applied for membership in the Third Division Association in Washington, because his medal came from the Third Division. However, Third Division headquarters refused to accept the ex-Secretary of War for membership.

Our apologies to Mr. Hurley therefore for underestimating his gall in accepting a medal for "gallantry" after the war had virtually ended.

J. Parnell Thomas

A few readers have chided this coulmn for its original expose last August of how Chairman J. Parnell Thomas of the un-American Activities Committee received salary kickbacks from employees—an expose which has now led to Thomas's indictment.

Some readers apparently confuse salary kickbacks with nepotism. Both are to be deplored, but the latter is not illegal.

Nepotism is the employment of relatives. In fairness, it should be stated that some relatives, such as Arthur Vandenberg, Jr., and Mrs. Glen Taylor, wife of the Senator from Idaho, work long hours on the job. On the other hand some relatives merely draw the salary, never come near the office, and let the rest of the staff do the work. This however, is not against the law.

But it is against the law to hire a clerk or stenographer and then require them to kick back part or all of their salary to the Congressman. Clerks and Stenographers are paid not by the Congressman but by the Government. Therefore, kickbacks merely mean that the Government—without its knowledge—is increasing the Congressman's salary.

A Congressman's salary is fixed by law. In fact, he himself votes to fix that salary and recently Congressman Thomas and others voted to give themselves a wage increase of $2,500 a year, plus $2,500 a year for expenses, making a total of $15,000.

The result of Congressman Thomas's kickback deals meant that he was paid considerably more than his legal salary.

Thomas has a long record of kickbacks going back to 1940, plus two known instances when he kept soldiers out of combat and later collected $850 from their families.

Merry-Go-Round

There was a good reason why the Voice of America so consistently informed Europe that Dewey was going to be elected. Charles Thayer, New York manager of the "Voice," was in constant touch with Allen Dulles, brother of John Foster Dulles, and one of Dewey's right-hand men. . . . Diplomats are wondering what will now happen to Thayer and the many other Dewey-ites inside the State Department. Probably nothing. . . . When Gov. Kim Sigler of Mihcigan, the man who did not refer the Senator Hooper murder case to Police Commissioner Toy of Detroit, was defeated, he jumped into his plane and vanished. Sigler ran 160,000 behind his own Republican ticket. . . . Mrs. Truman thinks that Tade Styka, world-famous Polish-American portrait painter, is the only artist who has been able to reproduce the elusive blue-gray color of her husband's eyes. . . . The teachers voted almost 100 per cent against Dewey. They did not forget Dewey's diatribe against the teachers' lobby at the Governors' Conference in Portsmouth, N. H. last summer.

Truman's Promises, If Added Up, Can Only Mean Inflation

By MARK SULLIVAN

The outpouring felicitations to President Truman are mainly on his victory, and this of course is completely justified. But many felicitators go farther. Looking forward, they wish him a happy four years. Some of this is merely general, like wishing a man a happy New Year. But some congratulators not only wish Mr. Truman a happy term but assure him he will have one. Harry, they colloquially say, now has the world by the tail, with a down-hill pull. Confidently they predict he will have a successful Administration.

For this there is, superficially, some justification. It is based on two facts, which actually are facts. One is, Mr. Truman will now have a Congress of his own party, expected to be especially disposed to follow him. The other is, he has a mandate from the people.

Expectation that the new Congress will defer to Mr. Truman is justified. No use to quibble that he had a Congress of his own party during nearly two years after he first took office, and that Congress conspicuously did not follow him, on the contrary flouted him. That, I repeat, is a carping quibble. The new Congress was elected with Mr. Truman, and to some extent by him, in the sense that his victory and the nature of his campaign carried into Congress many Democrats who otherwise would not have been elected.

Mandate Needs To Be Examined

Willingness of Congress to do what Mr. Truman asks, goes with another condition of his situation, he has a mandate from the people. But the easy phrase, "mandate from the people", needs to be examined.

For some things, Mr. Truman has a mandate from all the people. He has a mandate from the people as a whole to go on with aid to Europe. An interesting feature of the election was that, with a single exception, every mmeber of Congress was defeated who had voted against either Marshall plan aid to Western Europe or aid to Greece. (The exception was Republican Senator Wherry of Nebraska.)

But as to most things, what Mr. Truman has is a mandate from separate groups of the people, each group giving him a mandate for the particular thing he promised it or what it was led to expect. From farmers he has a mandate to continue price support of crops and extend it. From labor, he has a mandate to repeal the Taft-Hartley law. From renters he has a mandate to continue rent control and stiffen it. From home-buyers he has a mandate for low cost housing. From housewives, and consumers generally, he has a mandate to make war on high prices, especially of food. These are a few examples of Mr. Truman's promises to groups.

In Mr. Truman's many promises and the mandates to which they give rise, is extreme diversity, in many cases direct contradiction—for example, between the promise to housewives to keep prices of food down, and the promise to farmers to support prices. And repeal of the Taft-Hartley law, promised to labor, is not wanted by farmers.

Promises Fall Apart

In the election, you can add up the many groups to which Mr. Truman or the Democratic platform made promises, and make a victorious majority. But as respects keeping the promises, by legislation in Congress, they do not add up at all, they fall apart, fight each other.

The number and diversity of Mr. Truman's promises and commitments is suggested by a few—rationing of some materials, price controls at the President's option, increase of the minimum wage, increase of social security, excess profits taxes on corporations. Among the sprawling total is one group which entails special trouble for him and for the country.

One broad promise by Mr. Truman is to prevent inflation. But he has made many separate promises which necessitate increase of government expenditures, and thereby make for inflation. Added to enormous commitments already made, of billions for aid to Europe, economic and military, and for our own armament, are new or increased commitments domestically—projects for public water power, reclamation, rural electrification, hospital building, Federal aid for medical care and for education. One existing commitment, price support for farm crops, will the coming year run into billions of dollars.

It is difficult to suppose that Mr. Truman, as he made promises separately, reflected on the amount of money each would cost, much less that he added them up. If all the promises are carried out, the sum of them, with commitments already existing, means inflation.

When one contemplates Mr. Truman's promises, and commitments he is under, one hardly felicitates him, rather one pities him.

Strange Behavior Of Russia Causes Much Puzzlement

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12. — The strange behavior of the Soviet government in the last two weeks has occasioned a good deal of puzzlement here. But the principal conclusion being drawn is that the opportunity for an adjustment of the Berlin blockade and perhaps other major issues between the United States and Russia is better than it has been in many months.

Although only circumstantial evidence is available, it points strongly to the fact that the Russians have been stalling on the Berlin-blockade issue while waiting for the outcome of the American presidential election.

Fantastic though it may seem to many persons in this country, the Russians have all along been persuaded that the candidacy of Henry Wallace was significant. The cryptically worded statement issued by Premier Stalin himself just a few days before the election, in which he intimated that the American voters would repudiate the Truman administration at the polls, was taken to mean that the Soviets were already gloating over a Truman defeat. But acutally it was construed by those who know Russian affairs to mean that a substantial vote for Wallace would constitute a repudiation in the Soviet view.

Certainly there was nothing in the record to justify the assumption that the Dewey-Dulles policies in world affairs, assuming a Republican victory, would have been any different from those of the Truman-Marshall regime. For several months there have been reports from Moscow to the effect that the Russians were pinning their hopes on Henry Wallace's candidacy. Again and again American diplomats have reported that the Russians were convinced that Wallace would win. Just why the Russian sources of information on this side of the Atlantic were so poor is hard to understand. Or if they were reporting the Wallace vote correctly, just why the Russians chose to disregard it is one of the mysteries of Russian psychology.

Russia Takes New Tack

But now that the election is over, the Russian statements have taken a new tack. The Dewey candidacy is now presented as having been "imperialistic," and it is apparent that the Russian press would like to manifest a friendlier feeling toward President Truman.

Perhaps the most significant development of all was the way the Russian newspapers — which, of course, are government-controlled and government-directed — seized upon a dispatch this week in a Washington newspaper stating that there was a possibility of a meeting between President Truman and Premier Stalin. Although the Key West dispatchs reflected President Truman's disinclination to have such a meeting unless it takes place outside of Russia, the important fact is that the Russian press played up the item about a Truman-Stalin visit, indicating clearly that the wish may well be father to the thought.

There is evidence that the pinch of the counterblockade, about which little is being said but which is being felt in the Russian zone in Garmany, may have been a real influence in causing the Russians to manifest eagerness for an immediate settlement of the Berlin blockade.

It is significant that the Secretary General of the United Nations, Trygve Lie, has been active in the days since the American election and that the dispatchs from abroad indicate that he is working on the currency problem which, of course, is the crux of the whole issue at present.

More Than Meets the Eye

This correspondent has maintained from the start that the Berlin blockade was susceptible of settlement through the efforts of mediating governments. The negotiations which were carried on by the Argentine foreign minister in behalf of the six "neutrals" really accomplished a good deal by narrowing the area of agreement and disagreement between the East and the West.

As to a meeting between President Truman and Premier Stalin, there may be more to this than meets the eye. Mr. Truman is adamant on the point that he will not go to Moscow, but there certainly is no reason why he wouldn't be glad to attend a meeting in Sweden or some other neutral country. The only importance of such a meeting would be to clear the atmosphere and produce a friendlier feeling in the world.

So far as actual negotiations are concerned, the questions are too complicated to be taken up by heads of state. Even though they may reach agreement on principles, when it comes to implementing such principles through direct negotiations, experience has proved that stumbling blocks occur. So the process will have to be reversed—an agreement will have to be reached first by the diplomats on the "details." Then if a meeting between heads of states is arranged, it would introduce the psychological factors of friendliness and peaceful intention—which, of course, could be of great help as gestures of friendship so needed in a troubled world today.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

I don't know how it started, but the other night at one of the local wise-guy wassaileries a group of us got to wondering out loud about who was the biggest heel in show business. When we had libeled our way through a dozen names, an old-time theatre manager pushed aside his plate of Seventh Avenue scones—sometimes known as blintzes—and rapped his fork for attention.

Billy Rose

"You teen-agers are just talking about guys with bad personalities," he said. "Back in the old days, there were real heels on Broadway. I know, because I worked for some of them."

"Give us a for-instance," I said.

"Well," said the old-timer, "there was Ellis Fenton, for one. That wasn't his real moniker, but I prefer to call him that, seeing as how his son is still alive and a lot bigger than I am.

"Fenton showed up on Broadway about 1900, married a wealthy dame on Long Island, bought himself a couple of theatres with her dough, and went to work chasing actresses around his office. He paid low wages, made his people work long hours, and during Christmas there was always abuse-and-a-half for overtime. I worked for the guy three years during the First World War, and I wish I had those three years back."

"Keep talking," I said, "and remember I hate a slow-moving first act."

"One day Fenton called me into his office," the manager went on, "and asked me to do a confidential job for him. A week before, he had sent his secretary—Harold Morris was his name—out on an errand and the fellow hadn't returned. He wanted me to locate Morris, but ordered me not to talk to him or anybody else about his disappearance.

"Well, tracing the secretary wasn't much of a chore. I went to the uptown hotel where Morris had been living and the assistant manager told me that he had been forwarding his mail to a town outside Philadelphia. I took a train right down, and there he was. But I'd always liked the kid, and so, instead of reporting back to Fenton, I had a long talk with him. And the first thing I found out was the kind of errand the boss had sent him on.

"It seems that a couple of weeks before, a girl came to see the theatre owner and told him she was looking for work. The old billygoat took one look at her figure—eight, figure and suggested they talk it over at dinner. From there on, the routine was strictly routine—lobster thermidor, the bottle with the napkin around its neck, and a ride in a taxi.

"When they reached the girl's hotel, she invited him up for a drink. Fenton never even remembered what it tasted like—it acted that quick.

"When he finally pulled his head together next morning, the girl, of course, was gone. And two days later, the postman handed him an envelope containing several compromising photos taken after he had passed out, together with instructions to pony up $25,000 if he didn't want his wife to receive a duplicate set. He was to send his secretary with the money to a bar in Hoboken where the cash would be exchanged for the negatives."

"Sounds like an old swindle," I said. "Morris and the girl were in cahoots and divvied up the take."

"You're batting .500," said the theatre manager. "They not only were in cahoots—they were married. But the couple got no part of the dough—they gave it to a third person who had planned the whole thing."

"Who was he?" I asked.

"He was a she," said the manager, "and to tell you about her, I'll have to sketch in a few things the secretary told me about Fenton's early life. It seems he came from Bowling Green, Kentucky, and when he was 20, he got sweet on a girl down there and married her. Then, a few days later, he decided he'd had enough of married life, ditched her and vamoosed to New York.

"His wife wrote several letters telling him that a bundle of joy was on the way, but he never bothered to answer. When a gal-baby arived, she wrote Fenton again, begging for at least enough money to take care of the kid, but he never sent her a buck. Finally she got a cut-rate divorce on grounds of desertion, and since the laws weren't so fussy then, there was no alimony settlement."

"Good trick ending," I said. "Twenty years later the outraged wife frames the villain because he was mean to her che-ild."

"Right," said the manager, "and when I got back to New York the next day, I told Fenton he'd better let the matter drop or I'd noise the story all over Broadway. Then I resigned."

"Stout fella," I said, "but there's one thing I can't figure out. How did Fenton's ex-wife ever get the secretary to cooperate in this piece of blackmail?"

"Simple," said the manager. "She just nagged him—like any other mother-in-law."

Is Rep. Thomas Facing The Fate Of His Predecessors?

From 1930 on there has always been a House committee to investigate subversive activities. It has had several chairmen. At first it was a special committee set up by each House; now it is a standing committee. While it has made some breaks, it has performed a great public service. What it has discovered and what Soviet Russia has done are jointly responsible for the conviction of the American people that Communism is a major menace.

The most astounding testimony it has developed came to light this year in August—the charge that "fellow-travelers" were, or had been, in the National Labor Relations Board and in key posts in the State, Treasury and Agriculture Departments.

In view of this indubitable service, it is a singular fact that the chairmen of these successive House committees have either been driven from public life or violently assailed. Hamilton Fish, of an up-state New York district, appointed chairman in 1930 of a special House Committee to Investigate Communist Activities in the United States was the first victim. The avowed grievance of his assailants was not that he was anti-Communist; they got him, as an "Isolationist." The next chairman of a similar House committee—and the next victim—was Martin Dies of Texas, who withdrew from the Democratic district primary when he saw his defeat was in the cards. The avowed grievance of his CIO opponents was not that he was anti-Communist; he was "anti-labor," they said.

The third chairman in this category is Representative J. Parnell Thomas of New Jersey, whose inquiries had disclosed the startling infiltration of Communists into the highest government posts. He has been indicted on charges of conspiring to pad the payroll of his congressional office—a practice not unheard of on the part of other members, but heretofore ignored. Is that the root of the matter? Until the charges alleged are sustained in his trial, we suspend judgment as to his guilt or innocence. So should everybody else.

Trend Toward Right Is Noted In Europe Election

While not unexpected, Gen. de Gaulle's victory and the defeat of Communism in the election of a new French upper house went far beyond all predictions. The de Gaulle Rally of the French People, which holds no seats in the present Council of the Republic (Senate), emerges with at least 100 seats out of 259. The Socialists won fewer than half that number. The Communists have declined from 84 seats to only 16. While this voting was not by direct popular ballot but rather by electoral colleges representing local governments all over the country, it reflects the recent sharp swing away from the Left in France.

The same trend has lately been apparent all over Western Europe. In fact, the movement is not only away from the extremes of leftism, it is in several important instances a movement toward the right.

In France, the "third force" government of middle and mildly left parties, is politically bankrupt and awaits only a national election to drop from sight. In Belgium today the government is deeply worried lest the demands of the Marshall Plan force upon the country a planned economy which it does not want. Belgium today has a liberal capitalist economy, with a minimum of governmental direction. Capitalism is working there, as socialism has not been working in France. The Brussels government and the people are afraid of pressure from countries that regard state planning as a virtue in itself.

In the Netherlands, too, the recent political trend has been toward the Right. And in Britain popular criticism of the "socialization of industry" program has reached the point where many Labor M. P.'s privately admit the danger of a Conservative election victory in 1950.

These developments abroad do not prove that liberal capitalism is right and state socialism is wrong. But they do prove that those "liberal" writers who now hail the Truman victory as proof that "the United States is following the left-ward trend in Europe" have not been following current history very carefully.

Grief Invited Over The Penny Postal Card

One of the prerogatives—if not, indeed, one of the duties—of the Postmaster General is to complain from time to time about the chronic deficit in his department and suggest ways and means of curing it. Postmaster General Donaldson respects this tradition when he points out that the postal system is costing more than $2,000,000,000 this year, with your Uncle Sam $550,000,000 in the red. We share his sense of dismay, for which the sole relief is the fact that the postal system is essentially an accommodation service, which is not expected to pay its way. But Mr. Donaldson is asking for grief of another kind when he suggests that the price of the penny postal card ought to be doubled.

Coming from the manager of a private business that would be a proper, though egreiously tardy, proposal. The cost of each card, from mailing, through the complicated process of handling and delivery anywhere in the United States, is 2.6 cents. That means a loss of 160 per cent on each card. For any business enterprise this would mean bankruptcy quick and sure. But, we repeat, nobody expects the Postoffice Department to show a profit. If the regular users of these cards—who, in our experience, are comprised chiefly of writers of Letters to the Editor—had to plunk down two cents each time, there would be a cry of protest resounding from the Statute of Liberty to the Golden Gate.

Not only is the postal card a convenient adjunct of living, it has become a treasured relic of the pre-inflationary past. So long as it endures—a miniature monument to Service at 260 Per Cent of Cost—the American public can feel that the times are not utterly out of joint.

Besides, as Mr. Donaldson would not deny, first-class mail, including all the penny postal cards, still manages to pay its way.

Life is full of disappointments. The claim a botfly could travel 800 miles an hour has been exploded. Actual speed is 25 miles, indicating the botfly is simply an insect Model T.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Additional Allergy Remedies

New drugs for the treatment of allergies are coming on the market so fast that it is difficult to keep up with the advances. Some are near relatives of the original products, benadryl and pyribenzamine, which were introduced during the last five years; others have entirely different chemical formulas but act on the same principle.

Dr. Van Dellen

At any rate, some will undoubtedly prove to be better than others but a year or more will be required to separate the wheat from the chaff.

The products are called "antihistaminics" because they neutralize the histamine in our bodies. The latter substance is thought to be responsible for the changes in the tissues which cause hives, asthma, hay fever, and various other disturbances of an allergic nature. The plan of attack is theoretically sound and the modern preparations are giving the old stand-bys, ephedrine and adrenalin, a good run for their money. But research will contiue since the perfect remedy is yet to be discovered. No one drug can boast of alleviating every case of allergy. Furthermore, a certain percentage of users of the new products are bound to develop reactions but we should not belittle their value because the percentage of success is high and the untoward effects are few.

Trimenton, one of the newcomers, was tried by Brown and his colleagues on 227 patients. It was beneficial in 83 per cent; results were excellent in 1 per cent and moderate in 22 per cent. Victims of hay fever seemed to respond best; nine out of ten who used the agent were relieved. In addition, 81 per cent of hives and bronchial asthma suffers were helped. It was encouraging to note that only a few encounted unpleasant reactions, consisting mainly of drowiness. Such manifestations were severe in only two instances; in 15, they were uncomfortable enough to discontinue treatment.

Several reports have appeared on thephorin. Frank found the drug most useful in alleviating distress from nasal allergies and, in over 50 per cent, the results were dramatic; an additional number obtained partial relief, raising the percentage to 80. These individuals were bothered with sneezing, nasal discharge, and congestion because they were sensitive to pollen, dust, or other inhalant. But in 39 per cent, uncomfortable reactions occurred. Most of this group complained of insomnia and nervousness which differ from symptoms produced by the other anti-histaminics. Apparently thephorin has a stimulating rather than a depressing influence on the body. This is rarely serious enough to discontinue the product. Moreover, it is easily combated by administering a mild sedative simultaneously.

• — • — •

Antistine is another improved compound. According to Hughes, it appears to be more effective in acute allergic disorders, but is less successful in asthma and eczema. The drug may be taken in tablet form or incorporated into a solution to be injected beneath the skin, or as drops inserted into the nose or eyes.

CONTINUALLY IRRITATED

F. C. writes: Why does it take so long to cure duodenal ulcer?

It's the nature of the beast. After all, it would be difficult to cure an open sore on the hand if the lesion were irritated constantly by acid. In addition, the wall of the stomach is in motion just like the skin surrounding the knuckles.

SINUSITIS

J. K. S. writes: Will you please explain what sinusitis is?

Reply

Inflamation of one or more of the sinuses surrounding the nose. These hollow cavities connect with the nasal passageways by a tiny tube which allows air to pass in and out with each breath. When inflammations sets in, the outlet is obstructed and the secretion cannot escape. Relief is obtained after drainage is re-established.

Surgery is not advised since these spots usually disappear spontaneously during the winter time. Meanwhile, if there is any reason to cover them, this can be done with cosmetics.

Canned Juice

Mrs. F. O. writes: After opening a can of fruit juice, is it safe to keep the open can in the refrigerator for future use?

Yes, altho in some instances the acid in the material is affected. This in turn may alter the taste somewhat.

PARALYSIS AGITANS

T. D. writes: I would appreciate your telling me what Parkinson's disease is.

In this disorder, there is degeneration of certain cells of the brain and spinal cord, leading to tremor of the hands and head, stiffness and loss of coordination of the muscles of the arms and legs, and staring expression of the face. Most victims are elderly but now and then the disease occurs earlier in life in those who have encountered encephalitis.

HYPOGLYCEMIA

Yes, but in the strict sense there is no such thing as "chronic" low blood sugar. Even in those with the lowest percentage, the readings fluctuate from hour to hour. The level is usually high immediately after eating.

French "Thank You" Train Gathering Gifts; Pat Hurley's "Gallantry" Underestimated; Salary Kickbacks Should Not Be Confused With Nepotism

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 — Just one year ago this week the Friendship Train traveled across the American continent gathering food for the then hungry people of Europe. Today, one year later, a similar train is traveling through France gathering gifts for the American people.

The French train is called the "Thank You Train," and consists of 49 boxcars ("40 men, 8 horses") —the kind American troops rode in during World War I.

These boxcars are being filled with gifts for the American people and one car will be left in each of the 48 states. The 49th car will go to the District of Columbia for transmission to the territory of Hawaii, which contributed an average of eight cents apiece from every man, woman and child in Honolulu to the original Friendship Train.

The French Thank You Train is coming not from the government of France but from the French people. It is being organized by Commandant Guy de la Vasselais, who served as liaison officer on General Patton's staff and is an old friend of Americans. Several million French war veterans are contributing to make the Thank You Train a success.

The gifts in the 49 cars will not include food, luxuries or wine. Instead, they will be chosen from products which are typically French and will include several monuments, portraits, wood carvings, china, pottery, bells and native costumes. While the French are leaving it to the individual Friendship Train committees in the United States as to how the gifts will be disposed, it has been suggested that some of them may be suitable for American museums, colleges and schools.

The American railroads, which were such an important factor in making the Friendship Train possible, have patriotically offered to carry the French train free through various parts of the United States.

Apologies To Pat Hurley

On October 25, 1948, this column published an account of how ex-Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley received a decoration for "gallantry in action" on the morning of November 11, 1918, the day World War I ended.

Further information has now come to hand regarding this decoration, and we now wish to apologize to Mr. Hurley.

The information comes from Col. Wilbur Rogers, formerly of the 77th Field Artillery, Third Division. Col. Rogers is the officer who stopped Hurley en route to the front lines and told him the war was practically over and that he was not needed at the front. Hurley was a member of the Judge Advocate General's office—in other words, an Army laywer whose duty was behind the lines.

Col. Rogers now points out that the "cease fire" order had been called and circulated before he ever went up to the front in order to get his decoration for "gallantry in action." Therefore, concludes Col. Rogers, Hurley actually got the medal for action after he knew the war was over.

Col. Rogers also reports that Hurley later applied for membership in the Third Division Association in Washington, because his medal came from the Third Division. However, Third Division headquarters refused to accept the ex-Secretary of War for membership.

Our apologies to Mr. Hurley therefore for underestimating his gall in accepting a medal for "gallantry" after the war had virtually ended.

J. Parnell Thomas

A few readers have chided this coulmn for its original expose last August of how Chairman J. Parnell Thomas of the un-American Activities Committee received salary kickbacks from employees—an expose which has now led to Thomas's indictment.

Some readers apparently confuse salary kickbacks with nepotism. Both are to be deplored, but the latter is not illegal.

Nepotism is the employment of relatives. In fairness, it should be stated that some relatives, such as Arthur Vandenberg, Jr., and Mrs. Glen Taylor, wife of the Senator from Idaho, work long hours on the job. On the other hand some relatives merely draw the salary, never come near the office, and let the rest of the staff do the work. This however, is not against the law.

But it is against the law to hire a clerk or stenographer and then require them to kick back part or all of their salary to the Congressman. Clerks and Stenographers are paid not by the Congressman but by the Government. Therefore, kickbacks merely mean that the Government—without its knowledge—is increasing the Congressman's salary.

A Congressman's salary is fixed by law. In fact, he himself votes to fix that salary and recently Congressman Thomas and others voted to give themselves a wage increase of $2,500 a year, plus $2,500 a year for expenses, making a total of $15,000.

The result of Congressman Thomas's kickback deals meant that he was paid considerably more than his legal salary.

Thomas has a long record of kickbacks going back to 1940, plus two known instances when he kept soldiers out of combat and later collected $850 from their families.

Merry-Go-Round

There was a good reason why the Voice of America so consistently informed Europe that Dewey was going to be elected. Charles Thayer, New York manager of the "Voice," was in constant touch with Allen Dulles, brother of John Foster Dulles, and one of Dewey's right-hand men. . . . Diplomats are wondering what will now happen to Thayer and the many other Deweyites inside the State Department. Probably nothing. . . . When Gov. Kim Sigler of Mihcigan, the man who did not refer the Senator Hooper murder case to Police Commissioner Toy of Detroit, was defeated, he jumped into his plane and vanished. Sigler ran 160,000 behind his own Republican ticket. . . . Mrs. Truman thinks that Tade Styka, world-famous Polish-American portrait painter, is the only artist who has been able to reproduce the elusive blue-gray color of her husband's eyes. . . . The teachers voted almost 100 per cent against Dewey. They did not forget Dewey's diatribe against the teachers' lobby at the Governors' Conference in Portsmouth, N. H. last summer.

Truman's Promises, If Added Up, Can Only Mean Inflation

By MARK SULLIVAN

The outpouring felicitations to President Truman are mainly on his victory, and this of course is completely justified. But many felicitators go farther. Looking forward, they wish him a happy four years. Some of this is merely general, like wishing a man a happy New Year. But some congratulators not only wish Mr. Truman a happy term but assure him he will have one. Harry, they colloquially say, now has the world by the tail, with a down-hill pull. Confidently they predict he will have a successful Administration.

For this there is, superficially, some justification. It is based on two facts, which actually are facts. One is, Mr. Truman will now have a Congress of his own party, expected to be especially disposed to follow him. The other is, he has a mandate from the people.

Expectation that the new Congress will defer to Mr. Truman is justified. No use to quibble that he had a Congress of his own party during nearly two years after he first took office, and that Congress conspicuously did not follow him, on the contrary flouted him. That, I repeat, is a carping quibble. The new Congress was elected with Mr. Truman, and to some extent by him, in the sense that his victory and the nature of his campaign carried into Congress many Democrats who otherwise would not have been elected.

Mandate Needs To Be Examined

Willingness of Congress to do what Mr. Truman asks, goes with another condition of his situation, he has a mandate from the people. But the easy phrase, "mandate from the people", needs to be examined.

For some things, Mr. Truman has a mandate from all the people. He has a mandate from the people as a whole to go on with aid to Europe. An interesting feature of the election was that, with a single exception, every mmeber of Congress was defeated who had voted against either Marshall plan aid to Western Europe or aid to Greece. (The exception was Republican Senator Wherry of Nebraska.)

But as to most things, what Mr. Truman has is a mandate from separate groups of the people, each group giving him a mandate for the particular thing he promised it or what it was led to expect. From farmers he has a mandate to continue price support of crops and extend it. From labor, he has a mandate to repeal the Taft-Hartley law. From renters he has a mandate to continue rent control and stiffen it. From home-buyers he has a mandate for low cost housing. From housewives, and consumers generally, he has a mandate to make war on high prices, especially of food. These are a few examples of Mr. Truman's promises to groups.

In Mr. Truman's many promises and the mandates to which they give rise, is extreme diversity, in many cases direct contradiction—for example, between the promise to housewives to keep prices of food down, and the promise to farmers to support prices. And repeal of the Taft-Hartley law, promised to labor, is not wanted by farmers.

Promises Fall Apart

In the election, you can add up the many groups to which Mr. Truman or the Democratic platform made promises, and make a victorious majority. But as respects keeping the promises, by legislation in Congress, they do not add up at all, they fall apart, fight each other.

The number and diversity of Mr. Truman's promises and commitments is suggested by a few—rationing of some materials, price controls at the President's option, increase of the minimum wage, increase of social security, excess profits taxes on corporations. Among the sprawling total is one group which entails special trouble for him and for the country.

One broad promise by Mr. Truman is to prevent inflation. But he has made many separate promises which necessitate increase of government expenditures, and thereby make for inflation. Added to enormous commitments already made, of billions for aid to Europe, economic and military, and for our own armament, are new or increased commitments domestically—projects for public water power, reclamation, rural electrification, hospital building, Federal aid for medical care and for education. One existing commitment, price support for farm crops, will the coming year run into billions of dollars.

It is difficult to suppose that Mr. Truman, as he made promises separately, reflected on the amount of money each would cost, much less that he added them up. If all the promises are carried out, the sum of them, with commitments already existing, means inflation.

When one contemplates Mr. Truman's promises, and commitments he is under, one hardly felicitates him, rather one pities him.

Strange Behavior Of Russia Causes Much Puzzlement

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12. — The strange behavior of the Soviet government in the last two weeks has occasioned a good deal of puzzlement here. But the principal conclusion being drawn is that the opportunity for an adjustment of the Berlin blockade and perhaps other major issues between the United States and Russia is better than it has been in many months.

Although only circumstantial evidence is available, it points strongly to the fact that the Russians have been stalling on the Berlin-blockade issue while waiting for the outcome of the American presidential election.

Fantastic though it may seem to many persons in this country, the Russians have all along been persuaded that the candidacy of Henry Wallace was significant. The cryptically worded statement issued by Premier Stalin himself just a few days before the election, in which he intimated that the American voters would repudiate the Truman administration at the polls, was taken to mean that the Soviets were already gloating over a Truman defeat. But acutally it was construed by those who know Russian affairs to mean that a substantial vote for Wallace would constitute a repudiation in the Soviet view.

Certainly there was nothing in the record to justify the assumption that the Dewey-Dulles policies in world affairs, assuming a Republican victory, would have been any different from those of the Truman-Marshall regime. For several months there have been reports from Moscow to the effect that the Russians were pinning their hopes on Henry Wallace's candidacy. Again and again American diplomats have reported that the Russians were convinced that Wallace would win. Just why the Russian sources of information on this side of the Atlantic were so poor is hard to understand. Or if they were reporting the Wallace vote correctly, just why the Russians chose to disregard it is one of the mysteries of Russian psychology.

Russia Takes New Tack

But now that the election is over, the Russian statements have taken a new tack. The Dewey candidacy is now presented as having been "imperialistic," and it is apparent that the Russian press would like to manifest a friendlier feeling toward President Truman.

Perhaps the most significant development of all was the way the Russian newspapers — which, of course, are government-controlled and government-directed — seized upon a dispatch this week in a Washington newspaper stating that there was a possibility of a meeting between President Truman and Premier Stalin. Although the Key West dispatchs reflected President Truman's disinclination to have such a meeting unless it takes place outside of Russia, the important fact is that the Russian press played up the item about a Truman-Stalin visit, indicating clearly that the wish may well be father to the thought.

There is evidence that the pinch of the counterblockade, about which little is being said but which is being felt in the Russian zone in Garmany, may have been a real influence in causing the Russians to manifest eagerness for an immediate settlement of the Berlin blockade.

It is significant that the Secretary General of the United Nations, Trygve Lie, has been active in the days since the American election and that the dispatchs from abroad indicate that he is working on the currency problem which, of course, is the crux of the whole issue at present.

More Than Meets the Eye

This correspondent has maintained from the start that the Berlin blockade was susceptible of settlement through the efforts of mediating governments. The negotiations which were carried on by the Argentine foreign minister in behalf of the six "neutrals" really accomplished a good deal by narrowing the area of agreement and disagreement between the East and the West.

As to a meeting between President Truman and Premier Stalin, there may be more to this than meets the eye. Mr. Truman is adamant on the point that he will not go to Moscow, but there certainly is no reason why he wouldn't be glad to attend a meeting in Sweden or some other neutral country. The only importance of such a meeting would be to clear the atmosphere and produce a friendlier feeling in the world.

So far as actual negotiations are concerned, the questions are too complicated to be taken up by heads of state. Even though they may reach agreement on principles, when it comes to implementing such principles through direct negotiations, experience has proved that stumbling blocks occur. When we had libeled our way through a dozen names, an old-time theatre manager pushed aside his plate of Seventh Avenue scones—sometimes known as blintzes—and rapped his fork for attention.

Billy Rose

"You teen-agers are just talking about guys with bad personalities," he said. "Back in the old days, there were real heels on Broadway. I know, because I worked for some of them."

"Give us a for-instance," I said.

"Well," said the old-timer, "there was Ellis Fenton, for one. That wasn't his real monicker, but I prefer to call him that, seeing as how his son is still alive and a lot bigger than I am.

• — • — •

"Fenton showed up on Broadway about 1900, married a wealthy dame on Long Island, bought himself a couple of theatres with her dough, and went to work chasing actresses around his office. He paid low wages, made his people work long hours, and during Christmas there was always abuse-and-a-half for overtime. I worked for the guy three years during the First World War, and I wish I had those three years back."

"Keep talking," I said, "and remember I hate a slow-moving first act."

"One day Fenton called me into his office," the manager went on, "and asked me to do a confidential job for him. A week before, he had sent his secretary—Harold Morris was his name—out on an errand and the fellow hadn't returned. He wanted me to locate Morris, but ordered me not to talk to him or anybody else about his disappearance.

"Well, tracing the secretary wasn't much of a chore. I went to the uptown hotel where Morris had been living and the assistant manager told me that he had been forwarding his mail to a town outside Philadelphia. I took a train right down, and there he was. But I'd always liked the kid, and so, instead of reporting back to Fenton, I had a long talk with him. And the first thing I found out was the kind of errand the boss had sent him on.

"It seems that a couple of weeks before, a girl came to see the theatre owner and told him she was looking for work. The old billygoat took one look at her figure-eight figure and suggested they talk it over at dinner. From there on, the routine was strictly routine—lobster thermidor, the bottle with the napkin around its neck, and a ride in a taxi.

"When they reached the girl's hotel, she invited him up for a drink. Fenton never even remembered what it tasted like—it acted that quick.

"When he finally pulled his head together next morning, the girl, of course, was gone. And two days later, the postman handed him an envelope containing several compromising photos taken after he had passed out, together with instructions to pony up $25,000 if he didn't want his wife to receive a duplicate set. He was to send his secretary with the money to a bar in Hoboken where the cash would be exchanged for the negatives."

• — • — •

"Sounds like an old swindle," I said. "Morris and the girl were in cahoots and divvied up the take."

"You're batting .500," said the theatre manager. "They not only were in cahoots—they were married. But the couple got no part of the dough—they gave it to a third person who had planned the whole thing."

"Who was he?" I asked.

"He was a she," said the manager, "and to tell you about her, I'll have to sketch in a few things the secretary told me about Fenton's early life. It seems he came from Bowling Green, Kentucky, and when he was 20, he got sweet on a girl down there and married her. Then, a few days later, he decided he'd had enough of married life, ditched her and vamoosed to New York.

"His wife wrote several letters telling him that a bundle of joy was on the way, but he never bothered to answer. When a gal-baby arrived, she wrote Fenton again, begging for at least enough money to take care of the kid, but he never sent her a buck. Finally she got a cut-rate divorce on grounds of desertion, and since the laws weren't so fussy then, there was no alimony settlement."

"Good trick ending," I said. "Twenty years later the outraged wife frames the villain because he was mean to her che-ild."

"Right," said the manager, "and when I got back to New York the next day, I told Fenton he'd better let the matter drop or I'd noise the story all over Broadway. Then I resigned."

"Stout fella," I said, "but there's one thing I can't figure out. How did Fenton's ex-wife ever get the secretary to cooperate in this piece of blackmail?"

"Simple," said the manager. "She just nagged him—like any other mother-in-law."

Dolores Soterakos To Become Bride Of L. N. Leftheris

Miss Dolores Soterakos, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis P. Soterakos, 117 Columbia Street, will become the bride of Leonides N. Lefttheris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Leftheris, Farrell, Pa., tomorrow.

The Greek Orthodox wedding ceremony is to be solemnized by Rev. Constantine Bitzas, Johnstown, Pa., at 4:30 in Emmanuel Episcopal Church, which is being decorated with bouquets of all white flowers, candelabra of lighted tapers and palms. Nuptial music and the traditional wedding marches will be played by Mrs. William Oswald.

Members of the bridal party are Mrs. James Gabriel, Brooklyn, N. Y., who will be her sister's matron of honor; Miss Athena Parsenios, Miss Anabelle McKenzie, Miss Helen Giatras, bridesmaids; Georgia Parsenios, flower girl; George Charuhas, ring bearer; Louis Parsenios, stephana bearer. Petro Leftheris will serve as his brother's best man and the groomsmen are to be Louis Giatras and Gus Leftheris.

The bride, who is to be given in marriage by her father, is to be attired in a white satin bridal gown, fashioned on princess style, with off the shoulder effect and pearl trim, the full skirt ending in a sweeping train. With it she will wear a fingertip length Chantilly lace veil worn as a Spanish mantilla. A bridal bouquet of roses and gardenias will complete her costume.

Her matron of honor is wearing a soldier blue velvet gown with off the shoulder effect, long sleeves, edged with lace, matching the ecru lace yoke of the dress. The gown has a Colonial skirt. She will wear a small lace and velvet hat matching the gown and carry an old fashioned bouquet with tea roses predominating.

The bridesmaids gowns are all of faille taffeta made with a round neckline, cape sleeves and full skirts. All are wearing long gloves matching their gowns. Their headdresses are little bands of taffeta with veil streamers. All will carry old fashioned bouquets. Miss Parsenios' gown is peach-colored; Miss McKenzie's, sky blue; and Miss Giatras', fuschia. Her little flower girl will wear a floor length baby blue taffeta frock, a blue bonnet with pink ostrich tips and carry a nosegay. The ring bearer will wear a white Eton suit and the stephana bearer, a black Oxford suit.

Mrs. Soterakos has chosen a light green gown for her daughter's wedding; with it she will wear gold combs in her hair. Mrs. Leftheris will be attired in a medium green costume with black accessories. Both will have corsages of gardenias.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Catholic Girls Central High School and Catherman's Business School. She is employed by her father at the Centre Street Candy Kitchen.

Her fiance is a graduate of Vandergrift, Pa., High School and attended Dana Music Institute, Youngstown, O. He is a veteran of four years service in the Army in the European Theater of Operations, and prior to his recent resignation was employed by the Sharon, Pa., Steel Mill. LOVER'S LEAP IN THE NARROWS

Alice Hayden Babb To Become Bride

Miss Alice Hayden Babb, daughter of Charles H. Babb, Flintstone, is to become the bride of Malcolm Edward Burns, son of Mrs. F. Edna Tull, Greeley, Colo., today. The wedding ceremony will be solemnized at 5:30 p. m. in Mt. Vernon Place Methodist Church, Washington, with Rev. John W. Rustin officiating.

Miss Caroline McCullough will be the maid of honor and the bridesmaids will be Miss Virginia Oren and Miss Betty May Willison, Palm Beach, Fla. George M. Babb, city, brother of the bride, will serve as Mr. Burns' best man and the ushers will be Arthur C. Hyde and George Gibthorp. Miss Elizabeth McGrovy as soloist will sing "I Love You Truly" and "O Perfect Love."

The bride, to be given in marriage by her uncle, Col. Macker Babb, USMC retired, will wear a traditional gown of candlelight satin with fitted bodice and long sleeves and featuring a scallop design at the neckline and scallops overlaying the bouffant skirt, making a redingote effect which extends into a long sweeping train. Her fingertip length veil of illusion is held in place by a braided satin halo. She will carry a shower bouquet of white roses and orchids.

Her attendants will be attired in gold satin gowns, fashioned with sweetheart neckline, cap sleeves and fitted bodice that offset the full skirt with pannier front. Their headdresses will be gold satin halos and they will carry bouquets of large bronze chrysanthemums.

The bride, a daughter of the late Mrs. Babb, is a graduate of Flintstone High School and Catherman's Business School. Until recently she was employed as divisional assistant in the Division of Commercial Policy, Department of State, Washington.

The bridegroom received his A.B. and M.A. degrees from Colorado State College, Greeley, where he was a member of Phi Delta Kappa and Phi Kappa Delta fraternities. He served two and one-half years in the Signal Intelligence Branch of the Army and now is employed as an engineer with the State Highway Department of Colorado.

A wedding reception will be held in the church parlor immediately following the ceremony, after which Mr. and Mrs. Burns will leave for a trip to Williamsburg, Va. For traveling she will wear a smoke gray suit with burgandy accessories and an orchid corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Burns will reside in Greeley.

Undergarment Factory Reported Near Completion

SALISBURY, Pa.—The new undergarment factory being erected here for the Salisbury Manufacturing Company by the Salisbury Industrial Association, Inc., is nearing completion, according to members of the Salisbury Lions Clubs, sponsors of the project, who said the plant will be ready for operation in two weeks. The operating concern, a subsidiary of Milberg Industries, New York City, which also operates a plant in Cumberland, will employ 250 persons, mostly women. The first group to be employed has already been trained at the pilot shop.

A pilot shop, established here in April, has been training employes who will be associated with the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America. The union has been approved by both employers and employes.

The building, located on Union Street, is a one story structure measuring 64 by 100 feet and cost approximately $33,000. Construction was started August 1 and all materials used in the building, except the steel windows and a few other minor materials, were produced in the Salisbury borough and supplied by local business men.

The foundation is concrete, the walls red tile faced with red brick and the roof is of built-up composition. There is a basement under part of the building which will be used for storage purposes. The double floors are of hardwood. All work on the exterior has been completed and cutting tables and other machinery are being installed this week.

The new factory, an achievement of the Lions Club whose members have been seeking a new industry for Salisbury for the past two years, was built with funds raised by the Salisbury Industrial Association, Inc., also formed through the efforts of the Lions, with T. J. Cramlett, prominent local business man, as president.

A bond issue bearing an interest rate of 3 per cent and maturing in 5 years, floated by the association, was sold to residents of the Salisbury area to raise the $33,000 necessary to construct the building.

HELPING HEARTS—Members of Voiture No. 164, Society of 40 and 8, are shown here counting the money contributed by residents of the community at the Armistice Day parade. A total of $431.16 was collected which is to be put into a fund for the establishment of a rheumatic fever clinic in Cumberland to combat heart disease. In the photo (left to right) are John R. Kelly, Paul C. Weisenmiller, child welfare chairman of the 40 and 8; Dr. Samuel Jacobson, local heart specialist and organizer of the heart clinic; Charles O'Donnell, chef de gare of Voiture No. 164; and Charles G. Smith, cheminot nationale of the 40 and 8.

Harley O. Staggers, Keyser, victorious Democratic candidate for Congress from West Virginia's Second District, and State Senator Ralph J. Bean, Moorefield, were the principal speakers at a Frankfort District Favorite Sons' Jubilee held last night in Fort Ashby Methodist Church.

All but two members of the Democratic slate were swept into office November 2 in Mineral County, once a Republican stronghold.

J. H. Simmons, Ridgeley, was toastmaster at the celebration and William Marker, who was elected to the Mineral County Court for six years, opened the meeting.

Some 150 persons attended the Jubilee celebration held to honor the county candidates elect, each of whom spoke briefly following the dinner.

Among the Frankfort district electees honored were William Marker, county commissioner; Claude W. Funk and C. A. Jewell, justices of the peace, and A. V. "Andy" Rotruck, constable.

Music was provided by Mrs. Lotspeich, wife of the new pastor of the church, and Sheila Ann Speelman and Garry Adams.

Lions Club Hears M-G-M Official

Glamour is only the "paint job" of the motion picture industry, according to Maurice N. Wolf, Boston, of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer public relations department, who spoke Wednesday at a Cumberland Lions Club luncheon meeting at the Central YMCA.

Wolf has been connected with sales and distribution for M-G-M for many years in New England and has also visited the studios frequently.

He said the total capital investment in the entire industry—production, distribution and exhibition—is $2,750,000,000, of which only five per cent is invested in Hollywood. Only six per cent of the 206,000 persons engaged in the industry are in Hollywood. Most of the personnel and money invested are engaged in exhibition, Wolf added, making the motion picture business a local enterprise in the exhibiting communities.

Local Man Jailed On Assault Count

Conviction on two assault charges resulting from alleged peeping-Tom activities on the West Side brought Irvin Paetow, this city, a sentence of four months in the Maryland House of Correction yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court.

Magistrate Peter J. Carpenti also imposed a 20-day jail sentence in default of a $20 fine meted out in Police Court on a charge of disorderly conduct. Paetow pleaded not guilty to all three counts.

Paetow, who denied peeping into windows, was sentenced to four months for assaulting James Cave, this city, and received a similar term on an assault charge preferred by Vernon Shirley, Cumberland. Magistrate Carpenti said both terms will run concurrently.

Five witnesses identified Paetow as the man who had been peering into windows of West Side homes early this week. The defendant allegedly struck Cave and Shirley who pursued him as he fled Tuesday night.

Police said Paetow surrendered Wednesday morning at headquarters but had steadfastly denied the peeping-Tom accusations.

have one wish, though. He is not allowed to tear a new block on stamps until the old one is used up and he wishes they wouldn't ask him.

His customers range from small collectors who buy a few stamps, to those who buy whole blocks. The seriousness with which this collecting is taken is illustrated by Addison Gross who came down from Pittsburgh, Pa., just to see if he could complete his plate block collection.

There is nothing particularly odd about Hess' indifference to stamps; Acting Postmaster William C. McDermott, Miss Bessie Baird, clerk in charge, and Assistant Postmaster Thomas B. Cumiskey don't collect them either. Even when they were children, they hadn't the slightest interest in the hobby, which probably means they were destined for the postal service.

Local Man Jailed On Assault Count

Conviction on two assault charges resulting from alleged peeping-Tom activities on the West Side brought Irvin Paetow, this city, a sentence of four months in the Maryland House of Correction yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court.

Magistrate Peter J. Carpenti also imposed a 20-day jail sentence in default of a $20 fine meted out in Police Court on a charge of disorderly conduct. Paetow pleaded not guilty to all three counts.

Paetow, who denied peeping into windows, was sentenced to four months for assaulting James Cave, this city, and received a similar term on an assault charge preferred by Vernon Shirley, Cumberland. Magistrate Carpenti said both terms will run concurrently.

Five witnesses identified Paetow as the man who had been peering into windows of West Side homes early this week. The defendant allegedly struck Cave and Shirley who pursued him as he fled Tuesday night.

Police said Paetow surrendered Wednesday morning at headquarters but had steadfastly denied the peeping-Tom accusations.

have one wish, though. He is not allowed to tear a new block on stamps until the old one is used up and he wishes they wouldn't ask him.

His customers range from small collectors who buy a few stamps, to those who buy whole blocks. The seriousness with which this collecting is taken is illustrated by Addison Gross who came down from Pittsburgh, Pa., just to see if he could complete his plate block collection.

There is nothing particularly odd about Hess' indifference to stamps; Acting Postmaster William C. McDermott, Miss Bessie Baird, clerk in charge, and Assistant Postmaster Thomas B. Cumiskey don't collect them either. Even when they were children, they hadn't the slightest interest in the hobby, which probably means they were destined for the postal service.

More than any other, the Bible is a world-book. It has spoken in most of the languages of mankind. On Thanksgiving this Book will be opened to a particular passage by millions of people in many lands. "Bless the Lord, O my soul." This great 103rd Psalm is the opening selection of the Fifth Worldwide Bible Reading, a program that starts each year on Thanksgiving and ends on Christmas Day.

All over the world men and women, in their own tongue, follow the suggested list of daily Scripture readings. God's Word working in the lives of men can bring all nations into one world under God.

Begin your reading with the Thanksgiving passage and nourish your spiritual growth with the life-giving message.

Read it aloud to your family. Encourage your friends to join in. A chain of Bible readers around the world will strengthen the bonds of international friendship and understanding, and will give additional faith to every individual.

The Book is powerful. Through you, let its influence radiate into the farthest corners of the globe.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

More than any other, the Bible is a world-book. It has spoken in most of the languages of mankind. On Thanksgiving this Book will be opened to a particular passage by millions of people in many lands. "Bless the Lord, O my soul." This great 103rd Psalm is the opening selection of the Fifth Worldwide Bible Reading, a program that starts each year on Thanksgiving and ends on Christmas Day.

All over the world men and women, in their own tongue, follow the suggested list of daily Scripture readings. God's Word working in the lives of men can bring all nations into one world under God.

Begin your reading with the Thanksgiving passage and nourish your spiritual growth with the life-giving message.

Read it aloud to your family. Encourage your friends to join in. A chain of Bible readers around the world will strengthen the bonds of international friendship and understanding, and will give additional faith to every individual.

The Book is powerful. Through you, let its influence radiate into the farthest corners of the globe.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

By JOHN W. KNOWLTON

Two sparkling pass interceptions in the final three minutes of play—one a one-handed circus catch by big Paul Lindsay—gave the Ridgeley Blackhawks two touchdowns and broke wide open a close, hard fought gridiron duel with LaSalle High's Explorers. Ridgeley won 28 to 7, last night at Fort Hill stadium.

With only seven minutes of playing time remaining in the fourth period and trailing 14-7 the badly outplayed Explorers came to life and threatened to tie the game with a decisive 50-yard drive.

Taking the ball on its own 23 when a Ridgeley punt was downed at that point LaSalle started circling the ends and hitting the tackles for huge chunks of yardage. Louie Arnone smashed through for six and Bill Hudson then circled right end for 16 and a first on the LaSalle 42. Arnone again ground out eight yards off tackle and Hudson once more ripped off 16 yards to the Ridgeley 33.

With three minutes remaining the underdog Centre Streeters drove to the Hawks' 27 with second down and four. At this point the Explorers made the fatal mistake of taking to the air. Mickey Clark was spilled for a terrific 15 yard loss while trying to pass and on the next play Don Loy, Ridgeley right end, intercepted Clark's aerial on the Hawks' 32 and raced to the Explorer eight before being thrown out of bounds.

The complexion of the game turned instantly as Ridgeley pounced on the opportunity and Leo Day circled for the remaining distance and the West Virginians' third touchdown.

On the following kickoff LaSalle took the ball deep in their own territory and again took to the air lanes. On the second play Clark tossed a pass into the flat which Lindsay made a one-handed baseball interception of on the 18 and raced unmolested into the end zone for the final six-pointer. Lindsay plunged all four points after touchdowns.

The first quarter was scoreless although Ridgeley dominated play throughout picking up six first downs, losing the ball once on the losers' 14 and again having a drive stalled by a 15-yard penalty.

Capitalizing on a recovered LaSalle fumble Ridgeley then punched across the first score of the game early in the second period when Roy Comer circled right end for the final eight yards and the tally, climaxing a 24 yard drive.

LaSalle brought the 3,000 fans to their feet on the following kickoff when Lindsay's boot was taken on the Explorer 15 by Bob Carey who ran to the LaSalle 22 and then handed the pigskin off to Hudson who romped down the east sidelines the remaining 78 yards to the touchdown. The play covered 85 yards. Mickey Clark then hit Dick Leo with a pass in the end zone from a fake kick formation for the tying point. The half ended wtih the score 7-7.

Coach Jesse Riggleman's charges put up a tight defense against LaSalle's famed overhead game and the first of three interceptions set up the tie-breaking score.

Day pilfered Paddy DeMartino's heave on the Explorer 16 and raced to the 11 before being brought down. Day and Comer alternated to pick up a first on the one and Day plunged it over. LaSalle trailed 14-7 at the close of the third stanza.

The Explorers' running and passing game was stalled time and time and again by the alert Ridgeley defenses. LaSalle backs being thrown for losses totaling 68 yards during the game. Altogether the losers netted only 46 yards rushing and 31 more through the air.

Ridgeley was bulwarked once more by the hard-plunging Lindsay and the stellar play of Comer, Day and Don Murray and Gene Krampf. The latter two lineman especially were constant thorns in the sides of the LaSalle runners. Chuck Sitters, Bob Herstine and Francis Kitzmiller were best on the forward wall for LaSalle while Hudson was the standout Explorer back. The lineups:

Leahy Believes Press Can Help Notre Dame Book Topnotch Teams

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 12 (AP)—Frank Leahy, Notre Dame football coach, told newsmen today he would like to schedule such teams as Minnesota, Michigan and Army "and I believe that you gentlemen of the press can help bring such games about."

Leahy's remark was occasioned by conjecture that Notre Dame, Michigan and Army would finish their seasons undefeated—creating a problem in picking the mythical national champion.

The Irish coach was talking about regular schedules. Notre Dame has a policy against postseason games.

Leahy discussed the Notre Dame-Northwestern game here tomorrow with his customary pessimism and said he believed one point would decide the winner—either way. He asserted Northwestern has more team speed than any opponent Notre Dame has met this season.

Miss Grillo Sets World's Record

Beats Two Mile Mark Set At Ascot In 1922

PIMLICO, Md., Nov. 12 (AP)—Mill River Stable's Miss Grillo set a new world's record for two miles and a half today as she drove to a length and a half victory in the 17th running of the $25,000 added Pimlico Cup, longest stake event in this country. In contrast to her triumph last year when she won by a couple of city blocks with Jockey Conn McCreary standing in the saddle and waving to the crowd, Miss Grillo today was under hard urging to win by a length and a half from King Ranch's Flying Missel. A half length farther back in the thrilling finish came H. L. Straus' Pilaster.

A crowd of 12,000 installed the imported South American mare was the choice and her backers collected a $5.40 mutuel. Miss Grillo was clocked in 4:14 3-5 for the gruelling test, clipping two seconds off the world mark of Golden Myth set at Ascot, England, on June 5, 1922. The previous track record here was 4:10 1-5, established by Christiana Stables' Megogo in the 1944 running of the Pimlico Cup.

Miss Grillo was coupled in the betting with J. De Atucha's Bois Joli as the Trainer H. A. Luro entry.

Although Miss Grillo built up earnings of 68,550 before going postward today, she had won only two races in 17 starts. In the Pimlico Cup she took down $20,750 to bring her 1948 total to $89,300.

Two Football Contests Listed Here Next Week

Two football games are scheduled here next week.

Thursday night at the stadium West Virginia University Freshmen will play the University of Maryland Freshmen at 8 o'clock in a contest sponsored by the local council of the K. of C.

Friday night LaSalle will play host to Romney High School.

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., Nov. 12—The Vance Brothers — John and Kenny—accounted for both touchdowns today as Coach Johnny Paugh's Moorefield Yellow Jackets closed their 1948 football campaign with a 14 to 0 triumph over the West Virginia School for the Deaf of Romney.

The Jackets marked up a touchdown and safety in the second period and scored their final six-pointer in the third quarter.

Bill Harman's pass interception launched Moorefield's first touchdown drive in the second stanza. The local fullback snatched Asbury's aerial on the Moorefield 20 and returned it to the 25. Reeling off six consecutive first downs Paugh's eleven drove 70 yards only to have the Silents recover a fumble on their own five. The visitors gained nine yards in two plays then Asbury fumbled and Moorefield recovered on the 12. Johnny Vance passed to George Fisher on the five and the latter lateraled to Kenny Vance for the touchdown. Vance's kick for the point was low.

Jackets Score On Safety

The Jackets were credited with two points for a safety later in the second quarter when David Kelly, halfback, broke through to block a Romney punt. Moorefield recovered after the ball bounced into the end zone.

In the third quarter Romney was forced to punt on fourth down on its 26 and the ball only carried to the 45. On the first play Johnny Vance returned to the 29. George Baldwin picked up two yards at right tackle. Johnny Vance passed to his brother Kenny for a first down on the 17 and on a quarterback sneak Vance advanced to the 8. Kenny Vance registered a first down on the five. At this point Moorefield fumbled but recovered on the 9. On the next play Johnny Vance ran wide around right end for the touchdown. A pass for the extra point failed.

The Silents muffed an opportunity to score in the first quarter by fumbling on the two-yard line. Time ran out in the final heat after the Hampshire countians had marked up a first down on the Moorefield nine.

27 Jackets Play Final

The winners piled up 304 yards through the air and rushing while the visitors gained 199 net yards on passes and overland.

The victory gave Moorefield a season record of five wins and four losses. The defeat was the second against four victories for Coach Hawkins' team which concludes its season November 20 by playing the Pennsylvania School for the Deaf away from home. Lineups:

Gavilan Decisions Pellone In Welter Scrap At Garden

Earns 3 To 0 Decision In Bruising Battle

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—Kid Gavilan, flashy Cuban contender, kept in the running for a welter title shot tonight by punching out a 10 round unanimous decision over Tony Pellone of New York in Madison Square Garden. Gavilan weighed 147, and Pellone 146¼.

It was a bruising fight most of the way with the Cuban clouter earning a decisive edge. A crowd of 9,408 paid $29,629 to see the bout.

Gavilan, tentatively slated to meet 147-pound champion Ray Robinson in the Garden this winter, won the fight by taking the middle rounds. After giving Gavilan a terrific battle through the first three rounds, tough Tony appeared to tire and blew the fourth, fifth and sixth frames. That was enough to give the Cuban the decision.

Referee Mark Conn and Judge Charley Shortell each scored it 7-3 while Judge Joe Agnello gave it to Gavilan by 6-4. The AP score card had Gavilan in front, 6-3, with one round, the first, even.

Joey Maxim Scores

CHICAGO, Nov. 12 (INS)—Light punching Joey Maxim of Cleveland turned back Bob Satterfield of Chicago with a unanimous 10-round decision tonight before 4,802 fans who paid $21,042 at the Chicago stadium.

Maxim displayed his heralded left hand and superior boxing ability to win a crowd-pleasing bout.

Satterfield unleashed his heavy artillery in the eighth and ninth rounds, but could not overcome the lead piled up by the clever Ohioan.

Detroit Cleans House, Releases Two Coaches

DETROIT, Nov. 12 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers cleaned house today for the manager who will succeed deposed Steve O'Neill, releasing the last two of three coaches who worked under O'Neill with the fifth place Tigers of 1948.

General Manager Billy Evans announced that letters had been mailed to Art Mills and Roger (Doc) Cramer advising them of their release. The third 1948 Tiger coach, Bill Sweeney, resigned last month to become manager of Portland in the Pacific Coast League.

"It is customary for new managers to name their own coaches," Evans said. "The way now is cleared for the man we name as Steve O'Neill's successor to pick his complete coaching staff."

No candidate to succeed O'Neill as the Tiger manager has yet been named by the Detroit front office.

Salem Eleven Wins

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Nov. 12. (AP)—Salem defeated Fairmont 7-6 in a state college football conference game here today although the visitors rolled up a 13-3 margin in first downs.

The league clash was the season's last for both teams and left Salem with a conference record of two wins, two defeats and a tie in five starts. The defeat was Fairmont's third in conference play against three wins and one tie.

Bowl Teams Named

CLEVELAND, Nov. 12 (AP)—Canisius College of Buffalo, N. Y., today agreed to meet John Carroll University of Cleveland in the second annual Great Lakes Bowl football game in Cleveland Stadium Dec. 4.

Canisius has won six games and lost one.

Carroll has a record of five wins one tie and one defeat.

Drobny Cops Title

RIO JANEIRO, Nov. 12 (AP)—Jarosalv Drobny of Czechslovakia won the Fluminense international tennis trophy last night by defeating Enrique Morea of Argentina, 7-5, 6-4, 6-3.

Drobny and Eric Sturgess of South Africa, also won the doubles title. They defeated Morea and Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, 6-4, 6-4, 10-8.

Miami Is Winner

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 12. (AP)—The University of Miami Hurricanes won a bitterly fought 19-0 victory over the rugged University of Chattanooga Moccasins tonight in the Orange Bowl before 28,548 football fans.

It was primarily a display of stubborn defensive play by both teams. The Hurricanes tallied twice in the final period—the last score only 10 seconds before the gun.

V.F.W. Teams Win

The V.F.W. women's shuffleboard team won two out of three games from the Owls' team last night. Mrs. Elaine Gibson paced the losers with 30 points and Miss Ruth Jane Rinker topped the V.F.W. with 20.

The V.F.W. men's team swept three games from Cresap Tavern by the score of 11 to 66. B. Castleman led the Vets with a score of 28 and D. Hounshell was high for the Tavern with 20.

Race Track Handbills Boom George Mahoney For Governor In 1950

BALTIMORE, Nov. 12 (AP)—George P. Mahoney, former Maryland racing commissioner, said today he had nothing to do with some handbills which said:

"Special notice — Vote for George P. Mahoney for governor in 1950."

There was nothing on them to indicate who got them out and Mahoney said it was "news" to him.

As racing commissioner, he attracted national attention with a series of commission rules and precautions against doping and other race track practices.

His term as head of the commission expired not long after Governor Lane took office in January of 1947 and Lane replaced him with Stuart S. Janney, Jr., present commission chairman.

KEYSER, Nov. 12 —Paul Emery, right end, chalked up both touchdowns today as Keyser High School defeated the Petersburg High School Vikings by the score of 13-0 and remained in the running for the Potomac Valley Conference championship.

Coach Fred "Tack" Clark's eleven can tie Ridgeley High School for championship honors by winning its final game of the season from Romney High School at Romney on Thanksgiving Day. Ridgeley has concluded its P.V.C. campaign with a record of three wins and one tie. Keyser has won two games and played a scoreless tie with Ridgeley.

Score Twice In Second

Taking a Petersburg punt on its own 33, Keyser, aided by two Carroll Nelson to Emery passes which netted 44 yards, drove to the Vikings 10. On second down Emery scored on an end around play. Bernard Elbon plunged the extra point. One of the passes Nelson flung to Emery was good for 32 yards, the other 12.

Later in the second period Keyser returned a Gus Smith punt to its own 44. On second down Nelson passed from his own 44 and the ball glanced off the hand of a Petersburg back into the arms of Emery who sprinted the remaining 30 yards for the final touchdown. Elbon failed to plunge the extra point.

In the first period Keyser drove thirty yards to the Vikings' 7 but there was held for downs. Petersburg threatened in the final period and moved to the Keyser 12. There Elbon threw Moomau for a seven-yard loss and Keyser held for three more downs on its own 18.

Punting Duel Features

Highlighting the game was the punting duel staged by Emery and Smith. Paul and Gus got off a number of kicks that averaged between 40 and 50 yards.

Petersburg's aerial game fizzled and the visitors connected only once in 14 tries for five yards. The Grant countains were limited to 55 net yards on the ground while Keyser rolled up 207 yards—114 on five passes and 93 in running plays.

The defeat was Petersburg's seventh against one victory. Keyser's record to date is five wins, four defeats and one tie. Lineups:

FROSTBURG, Nov. 12 (AP)—Scoring in every period, Parsons High School gained a total of 487 yards in the air and on the ground today to hand Beall High School's football team its fifth straight defeat of the season at Frostburg State Teachers' College Field. The score was 33-13.

Charles "Pete" Ketterman, Parsons fullback, who is one of the leading scorers in the tri-state district this season, boosted his point total of 125 by accounting for two touchdowns and three extra points in today's contest. Kenneth Hovatter also scored two touchdowns and Robert Barton made one six-pointer for the Tucker countians. Earl Hopkins and Donald Rice scored for Beall and Leo Brady kicked the extra point.

Beall Scores First

Coach Joe Hoopengardner's eleven took a 7-0 lead shortly after the opening whistle by marching 70 yards to a touchdown after receiving the initial kickoff. Hopkins smashed over from the five for the score and Brady booted the point.

On the succeeding kickoff Parsons duplicated Beall's performance by driving 70 yards to pay dirt, Ketterman lugging the leather over from the 10 to put the Panthers on the short end of a 7-6 score as the quarter ended.

A pass, Ketterman to Hovatter, was good for 40 yards and a touchdown in the second period. Later in the same stanza Ketterman slashed off tackle for the score which gave Parsons a 19-7 lead at the halfway mark.

Hovatter scored the West Virginians' fourth touchdown in the third period after snaring Ketterman's pass and Barton returned a punt 40 yards for the final six-pointer in the last period.

Beall's second touchdown was registered in the final quarter when Donald Rice recovered a Parsons fumble in the end zone. The game was finished in the darkness.

Two Players Injured

Parsons rung down a successful season with seven wins and three defeats. Beall has concluded its season with LaSalle on Thanksgiving Day. The lineups:

Irish Conceded 14-Point Edge Over Wildcats

Army, Clemson, Vols Are Favorites Today

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (INS) — Those vaguely-identified but usually astute gentlemen known as "experts" have made Notre Dame a 14-point choice over Northwestern in tomorrow's outstanding college football game.

If the Irish can win this one, they will surmount their most formidable obstacle since their opening game of the season, and probably enjoy another perfect campaign.

Army also is rated 14 points over Penn in the East's leading classic.

In the South, Clemson, one of the five remaining unbeaten and untied major teams, is a three-point underdog to Wake Forest.

The other leaders, Michigan and California, have no particular worries. Michigan is a 33-point favorite over Indiana, and California a 26-point choice over Washington State.

Tennessee is rated 5½ points over Mississippi, Princeton 10 point over Yale, Minnesota 13½ over Iowa, Illinois 5½ over Iowa, Cornell one over Dartmouth, Brown 6½ over Harvard, Colgate 13 over Syracuse and Columbia seven over Navy.

Georgia Tech is allowed a 13-point advantage over Alabama, Georgia 28 over Auburn, Kentucky eight over Florida and North Carolina 12½ over Maryland.

In other games, the experts pick Mississippi State by 13½ points over L.S.U., Fenn State 28 over Temple, Purdue 14 over Pittsburgh, Rice seven over Texas A. & M., S.M.U. 13 over Arkansas, Texas 6½ over T.C.U., Tulane seven over Baylor, and U.S.C. 14½ over Washington.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Nov. 12 — Paced by their speedy and elusive fullback, Earl "Lefty" Bruce, who registered three touchdowns and boosted his point total for the season to 132, Allegany High School of Cumberland rolled over Johnstown Catholic High School to its ninth consecutive victory tonight at the Point Stadium before 5,000 spectators. The score was 33 to 13.

Johnstown drew first blood by recovering an AHS fumble and marching to a touchdown shortly after the opening kickoff but Bruce returned the following kickoff 93 yards for the Marylanders' first score. Bob Schramm's placement gave the visitors a 7 to 6 edge and they were never headed thereafter.

Allegany's other touchdowns were credited to Jack Devault and Wesley Abrams.

Sets New Scoring Mark

In scoring 18 points in tonight's game Bruce established a new scoring record for Cumberland players by upping his season's total to 132. The previous mark was 125 for a season.

Coach Joe Majer's Crimson Crusher got a break early in the frame by recovering an AHS fumble on the visitors' 37. From that point the home team drove to a touchdown, Oswald toting the ball over from the five for the score. Bachani's kick for the point was wide.

Then Fullback Bruce, sparkplug of the Cumberland team, took the kickoff and electrified the crowd by running down the middle of the field through the Johnstown team 93 yards to rack up the touchdown that tied the score. Schramm booted the point to put A.H.S. in front.

Two minutes later Oswald fumbled and Gordon Swan of Allegany recovered on the Johnnies' 32. On the first play Bruce skirted left end for 30 yards before being brought down on the 2. Abrams smashed over center for the touchdown but Schramm's placement was blocked. Allegany held a 13-6 advantage as the first period ended.

Devault Intercepts Pass

After a scoreless second period, Jack Devault, AHS substitute halfback, gave the crowd a thrill in the third stanza when he intercepted Lorditch's pass and galloped 43 yards to pay dirt. Schramm's placement was good and the Campers were 14 points to the good at 20-6.

Coach Robert Pence's aggregation concluded the fireworks by scoring twice in the final period. Bruce set the stage fore the first one when he intercepted Vranich's aerial on the AHS 40 and returned it to Johnstown's 44. Bruce circled end for 14 yards and first down on the 30, Abrams picked up 21 yards on an end sweep before being thrown out-of-bounds on the 3. Then Bruce galloped around the left end for his second touchdown.

Abrams Features Drive

An 81-yard drive produced the Blue and White's final six-pointer. The offensive was highlighted by an 18-yard and two 10-yard scampers by Abrams, and a 28-yard pass from Johnny Vernall to Abrams who made a sensational catch of the ball before he was brought down on the 4. After Wes moved the ball to the one Bruce smashed over for the score and Schramm placekicked the extra marker.

Johnstonw's final touchdown came in the 4th period when Weimer intercepted a pass and ran 34 yards. Bachani's placement was good.

The defeat was Johnstown's seventh against three wins. Prior to tonight's game 26 points was the greatest number yielded by the home team. Lineups:

Friendsville Girls Win, Cop Western Shore Title

Jean Friend's Penalty Tops New Windsor, 1-0

Friendsville High School's undefeated field ball team won the championship of the western shore in Maryland's tournament for Class "D" schools yesterday by edging New Windsor High School of Carroll County at Hancock by the score of 1 to 0.

The teams battled to a scoreless deadlock until the closing seconds of play when Jean Friend, inside left, was fouled. After the final whistle had blown she stepped up to the penalty line and fired the winning shot into the net to end the thrilling battle.

The victory was the tenth straight this season for Coach Wilbur Glenn's eleven and gave a Garrett County team western shore honors for the first time in the history of state field ball tournaments. Friendsville launched its drive on Monday by scoring an 11 to 5 victory over Williamsport of Washington County.

Yesterday's game was played in New Windsor territory a greater part of the team while Friendsville missed several opportunities to score from the field. Eleanor Dailey, center forward, missed a penalty shot early in the final period.

Friendsville will be entitled to Class "D" state honors if there is no opposition from the Eastern Shore.

Villanova Conquers Georgetown Hoyas, 36-7

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 12. (AP)—Ralph Pasquariello, bruising fullback from Everett, Mass., found Georgetown University's Hoyas to his liking tonight as he pounded over with three touchdowns to lead Villanova to a 36 to 7 victory before 16,500 at Shibe Park.

The 225-pound junior had a field night as he gained 180 yards on 21 attempts. His bull-like smashes opened the Georgetown defense for a successful aerial attack by Quarterbacks Andy Gordon and Bill Doherty.

Villanova, playing at home for the first time in five games, romped to its fifth win of the season against two defeats and a tie. It was defeat number three for the Hoyas, winners of three and tied once.

By JOHN W. KNOWLTON

Two sparkling pass interceptions in the final three minutes of play —one a one-handed circus catch by big Paul Lindsay—gave the Ridgeley Blackhawks two touchdowns and broke wide open a close, hard fought gridiron duel with LaSalle High's Explorers. Ridgeley won 28 to 7, last night at Fort Hill stadium.

With only seven minutes of playing time remaining in the fourth period and trailing 14-7 the badly outplayed Explorers came to life and threatened to tie the game with a decisive 50-yard drive.

Taking the ball on its own 23 when a Ridgeley punt was downed at that point LaSalle started circling the ends and hitting the tackles for huge chunks of yardage. Louie Arnone smashed through for six and Bill Hudson then circled right end for 16 and a first on the LaSalle 42. Arnone again ground out eight yards off tackle and Hudson once more ripped off 16 yards to the Ridgeley 33.

With three minutes remaining the underdog Centre Streeters drove to the Hawks' 27 with second down and four. At this point the Explorers made the fatal mistake of taking to the air. Mickey Clark was spilled for a terrific 15 yard loss while trying to pass and on the next play Don Loy, Ridgeley right end, intercepted Clark's aerial on the Hawks' 32 and raced to the Explorer eight before being thrown out of bounds.

The complexion of the game turned instantly as Ridgeley pounced on the opportunity and Leo Day circled for the remaining distance and the West Virginians' third touchdown.

On the following kickoff LaSalle took the ball deep in their own territory and again took to the air lanes. On the second play Clark tossed a pass into the flat which Lindsay made a one-handed baseball interception of on the 18 and raced unmolested into the end zone for the final six-pointer. Lindsay plunged all four points after touchdowns.

The first quarter was scoreless although Ridgeley dominated play throughout picking up six first downs, losing the ball once on the losers' 14 and again having a drive stalled by a 15-yard penalty.

Capitalizing on a recovered LaSalle fumble Ridgeley then punched across the first score of the game early in the second period when Roy Comer circled right end for the final eight yards and the tally, climaxing a 24 yard drive.

LaSalle brought the 3,000 fans to their feet on the following kickoff when Lindsay's boot was taken on the Explorer 15 by Bob Carey who ran to the LaSalle 22 and then handed the pigskin off to Hudson who romped down the east sidelines the remaining 78 yards to the touchdown. The play covered 85 yards. Mickey Clark then hit Dick Leo with a pass in the end zone from a fake kick formation for the tying point. The half ended with the score 7-7.

Coach Jesse Riggleman's charges put up a tight defense against LaSalle's famed overhead game and the first of three interceptions set up the tie-breaking score.

Day pilfered Paddy DeMartino's heave on the Explorer 16 and raced to the 11 before being brought down. Day and Comer alternated to pick up a first on the one and Day plunged it over. LaSalle trailed 14-7 at the close of the third stanza.

The Explorers' running and passing game was stalled time and time again by the alert Ridgeley defenses, LaSalle backs being thrown for losses totaling 68 yards during the game. Altogether the losers netted only 46 yards rushing and 31 more through the air.

Ridgeley was bulwarked once more by the hard-plunging Lindsay and the stellar play of Comer, Day and Don Murray and Gene Krampf. The latter two lineman especially were constant thorns in the sides of the LaSalle runners. Chuck Sitters, Bob Herstine and Francis Kitzmiller were best on the forward wall for LaSalle while Hudson was the standout Explorer back. The lineups:

Leahy Believes Press Can Help Notre Dame Book Topnotch Teams

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 12 (AP)—Frank Leahy, Notre Dame football coach, told newsmen today he would like to schedule such teams as Minnesota, Michigan and Army "and I believe that you gentlemen of the press can help bring such games about."

Leahy's remark was occasioned by conjecture that Notre Dame, Michigan and Army would finish their seasons undefeated—creating a problem in picking the mythical national champion.

The Irish coach was talking about regular schedules. Notre Dame has a policy against post-season games.

Leahy discussed the Notre Dame-Northwestern game here tomorrow with his customary pessimism and said he believed one point would decide the winner—either way. He asserted Northwestern has more team speed than any opponent Notre Dame has met this season.

Miss Grillo Sets World's Record

PIMLICO, Md., Nov. 12 (AP)—Mill River Stable's Miss Grillo set a new world's record for two miles and a half today as she drove to a length and a half victory in the 17th running of the $25,000 added Pimlico Cup, longest stake event in this country. In contrast to her triumph last year when she won by a couple of city blocks with Jockey Conn McCreary standing in the saddle and waving to the crowd, Miss Grillo today was under hard urging to win by a length and a half from King Ranch's Flying Missel. A half length farther back in the thrilling finish came H. L. Straus' Pilaster.

A crowd of 12,000 installed the imported South American mare was the choice and her backers collected a $5.40 mutuel. Miss Grillo was clocked in 4:14 3-5 for the gruelling test, clipping two seconds off the world mark of Golden Myth set at Ascot, England, on June 5, 1922. The previous track record here was 4:10 1-5, established by Christiana Stables' Megogo in the 1944 running of the Pimlico Cup.

Miss Grillo was coupled in the betting with J. De Atucha's Bois Joli as the Trainer H. A. Luro entry.

Although Miss Grillo built up earnings of 68,550 before going postward today, she had won only two races in 17 starts. In the Pimlico Cup she took down $20,750 to bring her 1948 total to $89,300.

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., Nov. 12— The Vance Brothers — John and Kenny—accounted for both touchdowns today as Coach Johnny Paugh's Moorefield Yellow Jackets closed their 1948 football campaign with a 14 to 0 triumph over the West Virginia School for the Deaf of Romney.

The Jackets marked up a touchdown and safety in the second period and scored their final six-pointer in the third quarter.

Bill Harman's pass interception launched Moorefield's first touchdown drive in the second stanza. The local fullback snatched Asbury's aerial on the Moorefield 20 and returned it to the 25. Reeling off six consecutive first downs Paugh's eleven drove 70 yards only to have the Silents recover a fumble on their own five. The visitors gained nine yards in two plays then Asbury fumbled and Moorefield recovered on the 12. Johnny Vance passed to George Fisher on the five and the latter lateraled to Kenny Vance for the touchdown. Vance's kick for the point was low.

Jackets Score On Safety

The Jackets were credited with two points for a safety later in the second quarter when David Kelly, halfback, broke through to block a Romney punt. Moorefield recovered after the ball bounced into the end zone.

In the third quarter Romney was forced to punt on fourth down on its 26 and the ball only carried to the 45. On the first play Johnny Vance returned to the 29. George Baldwin picked up two yards at right tackle. Johnny Vance passed to his brother Kenny for a first down on the 17 and on a quarterback sneak Vance advanced to the 8. Kenny Vance registered a first down on the five. At this point Moorefield fumbled but recovered on the 9. On the next play Johnny Vance ran wide around right end for the touchdown. A pass for the extra point failed.

The Silents muffed an opportunity to score in the first quarter by fumbling on the two-yard line. Time ran out in the final heat after the Hampshire countians had marked up a first down on the Moorefield nine.

27 Jackets Play Final

The winners piled up 304 yards through the air and rushing while the visitors gained 199 net yards on passes and overland.

The victory gave Moorefield a season record of five wins and four losses. The defeat was the second against four victories for Coach Hawkins' team which concludes its season November 20 by playing the Pennsylvania School for the Deaf away from home. Lineups:

Gavilan Decisions Pellone In Welter Scrap At Garden

Earns 3 To 0 Decision In Bruising Battle

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—Kid Gavilan, flashy Cuban contender, kept in the running for a welter title shot tonight by punching out a 10 round unanimous decision over Tony Pellone of New York in Madison Square Garden. Gavilan weighed 147, and Pellone 146¼.

It was a bruising fight most of the way with the Cuban clouter earning a decisive edge. A crowd of 9,408 paid $29,629 to see the bout.

Gavilan, tentatively slated to meet 147-pound champion Ray Robinson in the Garden this winter, won the fight by taking the middle rounds. After giving Gavilan a terrific battle through the first three rounds, tough Tony appeared to tire and blew the fourth, fifth and sixth frames. That was enough to give the Cuban the decision.

Referee Mark Conn and Judge Charley Shortell each scored it 7-3 while Judge Joe Agnello gave it to Gavilan by 6-4. The AP score card had Gavilan in front, 6-3, with one round, the first, even.

Joey Maxim Scores

CHICAGO, Nov. 12 (INS)—Light punching Joey Maxim of Cleveland turned back Bob Satterfield of Chicago with a unanimous 10-round decision tonight before 4,802 fans who paid $21,042 at the Chicago stadium.

Maxim displayed his heralded left hand and superior boxing ability to win a crowd-pleasing bout.

Satterfield unleashed his heavy artillery in the eighth and ninth rounds, but could not overcome the lead piled up by the clever Ohioan.

Detroit Cleans House, Releases Two Coaches

DETROIT, Nov. 12 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers cleaned house today for the manager who will succeed deposed Steve O'Neill, releasing the last two of three coaches who worked under O'Neill with the fifth place Tigers of 1948.

General Manager Billy Evans announced that letters had been mailed to Art Mills and Roger (Doc) Cramer advising them of their release. The third 1948 Tiger coach, Bill Sweeney, resigned last month to become manager of Portland in the Pacific Coast League.

"It is customary for new managers to name their own coaches," Evans said. "The way now is cleared for the man we name as Steve O'Neill's successor to pick his complete coaching staff."

No candidate to succeed O'Neill as the Tiger manager has yet been named by the Detroit front office.

Race Track Handbills Boom George Mahoney For Governor In 1950

BALTIMORE, Nov. 12 (AP)—George P. Mahoney, former Maryland racing commissioner, said today he had nothing to do with some handbills which said:

There was nothing on them to indicate who got them out and Mahoney said it was "news" to him.

As racing commissioner, he attracted national attention with a series of commission rules and precautions against doping and other race track practices.

His term as head of the commission expired not long after Governor Lane took office in January of 1947 and Lane replaced him with Stuart S. Janney, Jr., present commission chairman.

KEYSER, Nov. 12 —Paul Emery, right end, chalked up both touchdowns today as Keyser High School defeated the Petersburg High School Vikings by the score of 13-0 and remained in the running for the Potomac Valley Conference championship.

Coach Fred "Tack" Clark's eleven can tie Ridgeley High School for championship honors by winning its final game of the season from Romney High School at Romney on Thanksgiving Day. Ridgeley has concluded its P.V.C. campaign with a record of three wins and one tie. Keyser has won two games and played a scoreless tie with Ridgeley.

Score Twice In Second

Taking a Petersburg punt on its own 33, Keyser, aided by two Carroll Nelson to Emery passes which netted 44 yards, drove to the Vikings 10. On second down Emery scored on an end around play. Bernard Elbon plunged the extra point. One of the passes Nelson flung to Emery was good for 32 yards, the other 12.

Later in the second period Keyser returned a Gus Smith punt to its own 44. On second down Nelson passed from his own 44 and the ball glanced off the hand of a Petersburg back into the arms of Emery who sprinted the remaining 30 yards for the final touchdown. Elbon failed to plunge the extra point.

In the first period Keyser drove thirty yards to the Vikings' 7 but there was held for downs. Petersburg threatened in the final period and moved to the Keyser 12. There Elbon threw Moomau for a seven-yard loss and Keyser held for three more downs on its own 18.

Punting Duel Features

Highlighting the game was the punting duel staged by Emery and Smith. Paul and Gus got off a number of kicks that averaged between 40 and 50 yards.

Petersburg's aerial game fizzled and the visitors connected only once in 14 tries for five yards. The Grant countains were limited to 55 net yards on the ground while Keyser rolled up 207 yards—114 on five passes and 93 in running plays.

Charles "Pete" Ketterman, Parsons fullback, who is one of the leading scorers in the tri-state district this season, boosted his point total of 125 by accounting for two touchdowns and three extra points in today's contest. Kenneth Hovatter also scored two touchdowns and Robert Barton made one six-pointer for the Tucker countians. Earl Hopkins and Donald Rice scored for Beall and Leo Brady kicked the extra point.

Beall Scores First

Coach Joe Hoopengardner's eleven took a 7-0 lead shortly after the opening whistle by marching 70 yards to a touchdown after receiving the initial kickoff. Hopkins smashed over from the five for the score and Brady booted the point.

On the succeeding kickoff Parsons duplicated Beall's performance by driving 70 yards to pay dirt, Ketterman lugging the leather over from the 10 to put the Panthers on the short end of a 7-6 score as the quarter ended.

A pass, Ketterman to Hovatter, was good for 40 yards and a touchdown in the second period. Later in the same stanza Ketterman slashed off tackle for the score which gave Parsons a 19-7 lead at the halfway mark.

Hovatter scored the West Virginians' fourth touchdown in the third period after snaring Ketterman's pass and Barton returned a punt 40 yards for the final six-pointer in the last period.

Beall's second touchdown was registered in the final quarter when Donald Rice recovered a Parsons fumble in the end zone. The game was finished in the darkness.

Irish Conceded 14-Point Edge Over Wildcats

Army, Clemson, Vols Are Favorites Today

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (INS) — Those vaguely-identified but usually astute gentlemen known as "experts" have made Notre Dame a 14-point choice over Northwestern in tomorrow's outstanding college football game.

If the Irish can win this one, they will surmount their most formidable obstacle since their opening game of the season, and probably enjoy another perfect campaign.

Army also is rated 14 points over Penn in the East's leading classic.

The other leaders, Michigan and California, have no particular worries. Michigan is a 33-point favorite over Indiana, and California a 26-point choice over Washington State.

Tennessee is rated 5½ points over Mississippi, Princeton 10 point over Yale, Minnesota 13½ over Iowa, Illinois 5½ over Iowa, Cornell one over Dartmouth, Brown 6½ over Harvard, Colgate 13 over Syracuse and Columbia seven over Navy.

Georgia Tech is allowed a 13-point advantage over Alabama, Georgia 28 over Auburn, Kentucky eight over Florida and North Carolina 12½ over Maryland.

In other games, the experts pick Mississippi State by 13½ points over L.S.U., Fenn State 28 over Temple, Purdue 14 over Pittsburgh, Rice seven over Texas A. & M., S.M.U. 13 over Arkansas, Texas 6½ over T.C.U., Tulane seven over Baylor, and U.S.C. 14½ over Washington.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Nov. 12 — Paced by their speedy and elusive fullback, Earl "Lefty" Bruce, who registered three touchdowns and boosted his point total for the season to 132, Allegany High School of Cumberland rolled over Johnstown Catholic High School to its ninth consecutive victory tonight at the Point Stadium before 5,000 spectators. The score was 33 to 13.

Johnstown drew first blood by recovering an AHS fumble and marching to a touchdown shortly after the opening kickoff but Bruce returned the following kickoff 93 yards for the Marylanders' first score. Bob Schramm's placement gave the visitors a 7 to 6 edge and they were never headed thereafter.

Allegany's other touchdowns were credited to Jack Devault and Wesley Abrams.

Sets New Scoring Mark

In scoring 18 points in tonight's game Bruce established a new scoring record for Cumberland players by upping his season's total to 132. The previous mark was 125 for a season.

Coach Joe Majer's Crimson Crusher got a break early in the frame by recovering an AHS fumble on the visitors' 37. From that point the home team drove to a touchdown, Oswald toting the ball over from the five for the score. Bachani's kick for the point was wide.

Then Fullback Bruce, sparkplug of the Cumberland team, took the kickoff and electrified the crowd by running down the middle of the field through the Johnstown team 93 yards to rack up the touchdown that tied the score. Schramm booted the point to put A.H.S. in front.

Two minutes later Oswald fumbled and Gordon Swan of Allegany recovered on the Johnnies' 32. On the first play Bruce skirted left end for 30 yards before being brought down on the 2. Abrams smashed over center for the touchdown but Schramm's placement was blocked. Allegany held a 13-6 advantage as the first period ended.

Devault Intercepts Pass

After a scoreless second period, Jack Devault, AHS substitute halfback, gave the crowd a thrill in the third stanza when he intercepted Lorditch's pass and galloped 43 yards to pay dirt. Schramm's placement was good and the Campers were 14 points to the good at 20-6.

Coach Robert Pence's aggregation concluded the fireworks by scoring twice in the final period. Bruce set the stage fore the first one when he intercepted Vranich's aerial on the AHS 40 and returned it to Johnstown's 44. Bruce circled end for 14 yards and first down on the 30, Abrams picked up 21 yards on an end sweep before being thrown out-of-bounds on the 3. Then Bruce galloped around the left end for his second touchdown.

Abrams Features Drive

An 81-yard drive produced the Blue and White's final six-pointer. The offensive was highlighted by an 18-yard and two 10-yard scampers by Abrams, and a 28-yard pass from Johnny Vernall to Abrams who made a sensational catch of the ball before he was brought down on the 4. After Wes moved the ball to the one Bruce smashed over for the score and Schramm placekicked the extra marker.

Johnstonw's final touchdown came in the 4th period when Weimer intercepted a pass and ran 34 yards. Bachani's placement was good.

The defeat was Johnstown's seventh against three wins. Prior to tonight's game 26 points was the greatest number yielded by the home team. Lineups:

Friendsville High School's undefeated field ball team won the championship of the western shore in Maryland's tournament for Class "D" schools yesterday by edging New Windsor High School of Carroll County at Hancock by the score of 1 to 0.

The teams battled to a scoreless deadlock until the closing seconds of play when Jean Friend, inside left, was fouled. After the final whistle had blown she stepped up to the penalty line and fired the winning shot into the net to end the thrilling battle.

The victory was the tenth straight this season for Coach Wilbur Glenn's eleven and gave a Garrett County team western shore honors for the first time in the history of state field ball tournaments. Yesterday's game was played in New Windsor territory a greater part of the team while Friendsville missed several opportunities to score from the field. Eleanor Dailey, center forward, missed a penalty shot early in the final period.

Friendsville will be entitled to Class "D" state honors if there is no opposition from the Eastern Shore.

MIRROR Of Your MIND

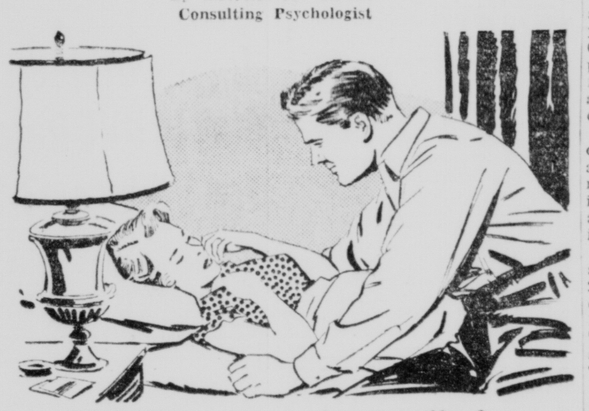
By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist



Will developing a neurosis solve your problems?

Answer: Not really, but it may make your life more tolerable by providing an unconscious outlet for your repressed feelings. In this sense, says Dr. Ralph Kaufman of Mount Sinai Hospital, New York, a neurotic symptom is a "compromise" between what you really want and what you regard as a necessity or duty. Thus a woman who develops a neurotic headache gets the rest she wants from her domestic tasks, along with no less desired attention from the family who don't "appreciate her." But next day, she's right back where she started.

Answer: Not enough so under normal circumstances to make the experience anything to be afraid of. Authorities like Dr. William E. Hunter of Los Angeles say much pain in childbirth has no actual physical basis but is due to "anticipation and fear," while a woman physician, Dr. Enid Cook, says of the birth of her first two children: "Looking back, I have no memory of pain such I recall resulting from an acute earache four years before marriage." Psychological re-education can rob motherhood of most of its terrors.

Can a hate grow into an Obsession?

Answer: Yes. If you have carried on from childhood a mass of resentment which you have not dared to recognize because its real objects were the people whom it was your duty to love, or whom it would have been fatal to antagonize, your accumulated rage may become consciously fixated on someone with whom you come in contact a san adult toward whom you can justify your hate on fairly plausible grounds. You may even reach the point where injuring that person becomes your main object in life. Yet he's really nothing but a "scapegoat."

French Forfeits Bond For Reckless Driving

Erwin W. French, Route 2, Keyser, W. Va., forfeited $11.45 bond yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court on a reckless driving charge placed after his arrest when his car reportedly forced a police car against a Virginia Avenue curb and caused $50 damage.

French, police said, and four other men created a disturbance in an automobile early yesterday morning. Officers fired three warning shots when the vehicle sped away and failed to stop after crowding the cruiser into the curb.

Taken into custody five hours after the incident were R. W. Blake, 22 Pennsylvania Avenue; R. A. Pancake, 20 Race Street; C. W. Torley, 11 Laing Avenue, and B. E. Ross, 742 North Mechanic Street, reported as occupants of the fleeing vehicle. They have been released.

Harold Robert Clark, 567 Patterson Avenue, and Samuel Murphy, Route 3, this city, were found not guilty on reckless driving charges preferred following a collision Sunday on Route 40 in LaVale. State Trooper Paul T. Long, who investigated, said both machines were slightly damaged.

County Gets Beds In State Hospital

Allegany County has been allotted 12 beds in the new chronic hospital at Salisbury, which will be ready next summer, and the Allegany County Board of Commissioners voted yesterday to allow the county to avail itself of the offered facilities.

Dr. R. H. Riley, director of the State Department of Health, told the Board the new hospital will have 300 beds for chronic patients and added to the facilities available at the hospital at Camp Ritchie will help alleviate the hospitalization of Allegany countians who have chronic ailments.

The total cost to the county for the 12 patients will be $4,161 based on a charge of 75 cents per day for each person hospitalized. The state will pay the balance of the expenses, including maintenance. The $4,161 will pay for one year's hospitalization for the 12 county residents who are sent to Salisbury.

The county board felt that due to the extremely low cost of caring for chronic patients the state offer was an excellent chance to aid elderly persons who are ill and at the same time would provide that many more beds at the Allegany County Infirmary.

Allegany Students Write To Youths In Europe

She arranged with the Federal Security Agency of the United States Department of Education in securing the "pen pals" in foreign lands, especially Germany. Miss Baker wrote to the agency at Washington, stating the age of the students.

Robb Reappointed County March Of Dimes Chairman

The Allegany County director for the March of Dimes campaign again will be John M. Robb, 19 Washington Street, according to George L. Radcliffe, state chairman.

Robb has said he will name his committee within the next few days. Robb said $8,666.45 was raised in Allegany county last year for the fight against infantile paralysis.

Noting the severe polio epidemic suffered by Texas and North Carolina this year, Robb added that Maryland has been fortunate in not experiencing one. In the belief that Maryland may not always be so fortunate, he said he hopes to double the amount raised last year.

Bonded Debts Of County Due For Rise Soon

Although the present bonded indebtedness of Allegany County is $3,797,000, according to the annual audit of the treasurer's books for the fiscal year ending March, it will soon jump to $6,797,000.

Members of the Board of Commissioners received copies of the report yesterday, which did not include the $1,000,000 Flood Control bond issue and 2,000,000 in school bonds which will be advertised in the next few weeks.

Members of the county board said today that the bonded indebtedness limit for the county is about $10,000,000. The largest single amount of bonds have been issued for schools. The school bond indebtedness was $2,422,000 as of March 31, 1948, but when the $2,000,000 issue to be advertised soon is added the school total will reach $4,422,000.

Despite this large sum, members of the county board said today the county is in a good financial position as the assessable basis is high enough to support the burden. They pointed out that the low interest rates which have been obtained on bond isues in the past two years by the county reflects the financial standing of Allegany county.

An examination of the bond issue by the county since 1920 will bear out the commissioners statement in this regard.

From 1920 to 1941 the county issued school bonds on eight occasions. On an issue of $140,000 in 1920 the interest rate was five per cent. A similar issue in 1921 was also at five per cent. In 1923 and 1928 the rate on issues totalling $600,000 dropped to four and one-fourth per cent. In 1933 and 1939 the rate dropped to two and three-fourths per cent and in 1941 a $560,000 issue was sold with an interest rate of one and one-sixth per cent.

Two bond issues on Memorial Hospital also illustrate the lower interest rates. In 1927 the rate was four and one-fourth on $5,000 while in 1943 an issue of $40,000 cost only one and one-sixth per cent interest.

The auditing firm also suggested that a quarterly review be made of all charges for care of patients in the various state and county institutions, with the view of eliminating some items. This would relieve much of the detail work that seems useless.

In regard to tax sales of property the auditors mentioned that at least 22 items had been disposed of at prices in excess of cost to the county. This excess amounts to $6,456.77.

Mrs. Wilbur D. Sills, county auditor, was praised for her accurately and neatly kept accounts and records. The auditing firm stated that much care was exercised by Mrs. Sills in the responsibilities of her office.

The audit was signed by the late J. Leon Bozman, of Baltimore, who died after the audit was completed. The commissioners receyied word today from Mrs. Bozman that her late husband's auditing business was being handled by Charles L. Sherman, Jr., and J. Leonard Hall, who is acting in a consulting position.

MIRROR Of Your MIND

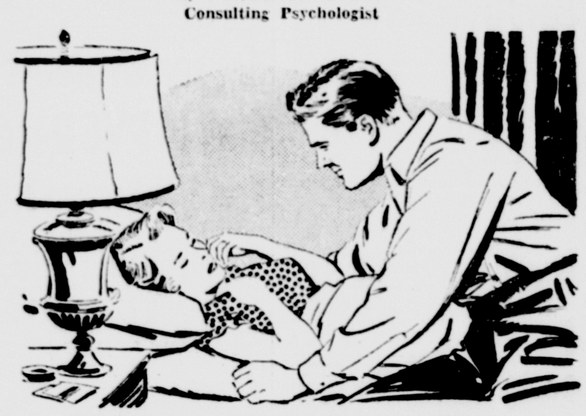
By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist



Will developing a neurosis solve your problems?

Answer: Not really, but it may make your life more tolerable by providing an unconscious outlet for your repressed feelings. In this sense, says Dr. Ralph Kaufman of Mount Sinai Hospital, New York, a neurotic symptom is a "compromise" between what you really want and what you regard as a necessity or duty. Thus a woman who develops a neurotic headache gets the rest she wants from her domestic tasks, along with no less desired attention from the family who don't "appreciate her." But next day, she's right back where she started.

Is having a baby always painful?

Answer: Not enough so under normal circumstances to make the experience anything to be afraid of. Authorities like Dr. William E. Hunter of Los Angeles say much pain in childbirth has no actual physical basis but is due to "anticipation and fear," while a woman physician, Dr. Enid Cook, says of the birth of her first two children: "Looking back, I have no memory of pain such I recall resulting from an acute earache four years before marriage." Psychological re-education can rob motherhood of most of its terrors.

Can a hate grow into an Obsession?

Answer: Yes. If you have carried on from childhood a mass of resentment which you have not dared to recognize because its real objects were the people whom it was your duty to love, or whom it would have been fatal to antagonize, your accumulated rage may become consciously fixated on someone with whom you come in contact a san adult toward whom you can justify your hate on fairly plausible grounds. You may even reach the point where injuring that person becomes your main object in life. Yet he's really nothing but a "scapegoat."

Conlon Approval As Postmaster Seen

Thomas F. Conlon's confirmation by the Senate for postmaster here appeared assured yesterday with the announcement by Senator Lucas (D-Ill.) that one of the first acts of the new Congress will be the speedy approvement of stalemated nominations.

"There'll be no delay in confirming those appointments," Lucas predicted to reporters. And his word carries weight because he is generally expected to be the new majority leader.

Among others whose nominations now appear certain are James Boyd of Colorado to be director of the Bureau of Mines. Boyd was named Bureau of Mines director in August, 1947—and has served for the past year without pay in his $10,000-a-year job.

Thomas F. Conlon's confirmation by the Senate for postmaster here appeared assured yesterday with the announcement by Senator Lucas (D-Ill.) that one of the first acts of the new Congress will be the speedy approvement of stalemated nominations.

"There'll be no delay in confirming those appointments," Lucas predicted to reporters. And his word carries weight because he is generally expected to be the new majority leader.

Beginning early this year, the 80th Congress refused to act on the huge batch of nominations sent to Capitol Hill by President Truman.

More than 700 of them are postmasters scattered throughout the country.

Among others whose nominations now appear certain are James Boyd of Colorado to be director of the Bureau of Mines. Boyd was named Bureau of Mines director in August, 1947—and has served for the past year without pay in his $10,000-a-year job.

Yesterday's Answer

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

A W R F E N W J T Z G U W C O D M U G Q C

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: ALAS! THE LOVE OF WOMEN! IT IS KNOWN TO BE A LOVELY AND A FEARFUL THING—BYRON.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 12—(INS)—Mike Curtiz and I were at the Marines birthday party, the guests of Lieutenant Gordon Maynard.

Jean Simmons

In between times when Mike wasn't beaming with pride over young Maynard, who works for him when he isn't on Marine duty, he was telling me about his plans for Louis Jourdan. He borrowed Jourdan from David Selznick by long distance telephone for "The King And the Chorus Girl."

Dick Powell made this movie years ago, only the King business was better then. Now we have kings who are throneless, so Mike feels the story can be brought up-to-date and made very effective.

This 1949 King falls in love with a lady of the chorus and becomes an American. Doris Day plays the gal—and, by the way, I want to say that I am applauding Dinah Shore for stepping in at the last minute when Doris didn't show up to entertain the Marines who had expected her.

I also want to applaud Bob Hope, who limped in and kept the boys in stitches; and Dorothy Lamour, who had been sick, but who made it a point to be there and sing two songs for them; and Janis Paige who danced with them.

According to the Motion Picture Producers Association, Jack Warner suggested last summer that one of the big studio stages be used for the annual Academy awards. He suggested that each studio take its turn, and that no special publicity be given to any one studio.

Last Tuesday, when the motion picture producers met, Jack's suggestion was discussed. That it is a good one, there is no doubt, but so far no definite place has been set to hold the annual meeting which is tentatively set by Jean Hersholt for March 24.

You could bet everything you own that after election someone would come up with a story ribbing those poll-takers who made a survey on the election. Well, Carl Schroeder, former magazine editor, is the bright boy who wrote "A Matter Of Opinion," which ribs those who were guided by the polls.

Mark Robson, at RKO, has taken an option on the story and will try to get Robert Ryan.

In spite of the enormous publicity Jean has received as Ophelia in "Hamlet" she still lives in a tiny house in London with her mother and one maid, who doubles in keeping the house and accompanying Jean to the studio.

When it was suggested that she move into "swankier" quarters in keeping with her new prominence, she said the broad "a" equivalent of "nothing doing."

She and Stewart Grainger still refuse to admit they are engaged, but they are certainly in love.

The little discussion between Sydney Greenstreet and Warner Brothers, over lending Sydney to another studio, has been settled. Sydney asked for, and has been given his release from Warners.

The studio, with a backlog of pictures, is planning to close for a month during the holidays. There is a 12-week layoff clause on all contracts which will be enforced.

In the many years I have been in the picture business we have had other difficult times, and there is no doubt the business will come through these troubles. But one thing is certain, the days of the three million dollar pictures are ended.

The doctors say Butch Jenkins, the freckled face child actor, who has to live on the desert, will be okay. His mother, Mrs. Doris Jenkins,, was told to take him away from the beach so they are moving to Indio.

Georgie Jessel, not so inconspicuous, also was at the same place with Dorothy Kirsten, the Met thrush.

There has been a party every night for Ben Lyon and Bebe Daniels. If they don't get out of town soon their friends will fold up. Ben leaves with Barbara Bebe, their daughter, on Tuesday. Bebe remains behind to clear up some business in Hollywood before she joins Ben. They are in for a big welcome in London I hear.

Post-Election Jitters Kept Under Control For Second Day

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—The stock market kept its post-election jitters under control today for the second session in a row.

The market tried hard to get ahead a good part of the day but the final score was only mildly impressive. Gains of fractions to a point or more were in a clear-cut majority but the general price level didn't move very far.

Some were discouraged by the comparatively low volume of trading today. On Wednesday, the previous trading day, turnover amounted to 2,100,000 shares. Heavy selling was absorbed with a good show of stability. Turnover today, however dropped to 1,110,000 shares.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks remained at 63.8. The industrial component advanced, utilities declined and rails were unchanged of the 1,038 issues which were traded, 522 advanved and 274 declined.

Ending higher, some by very slim margins, were U. S. Steel at 72¾, American Telephone 150¼, General Motors 61⅛, Goodrich Tire 55½, Montgomery Ward 55¼, Caterpillar Tractor 51½, United Aircraft 24⅝, American Broadcasting 8⅝, Phelps Dodge 52⅝, American Can 80⅛, Dow Chemical 46⅛, Johns-Manville 36¾, Philip Morris 34⅝, Owens-Illinois 54, Santa Fe 100¾, Southern Railway 41⅜, Nickel Plate 77½, Superior Oil of California 155½, Texas Co. 53¾, Skelly Oil 114, and Twentieth Century-Fox 18⅛.

Led by a handful of rails, a good part of the bond market went on the offensive and chalked up advances ranging to more than three points.

But a few rail loans got left behind and drifted wodnward in quiet trading. Sales totaled $3,686,000, well below yesterday's volume of $4,720,000.

Some U. S. Governments edged upward, with the tax-empts in the lead. The 2⅞s of 1955-60 gained 2-32nds of a point at 107.26 bid, for example, and the 2½s of 1960-65 were up 6-32nds at 108 30-32nds.

Post-Election Jitters Kept Under Control For Second Day

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—The stock market kept its post-election jitters under control today for the second session in a row.

The market tried hard to get ahead a good part of the day but the final score was only mildly impressive. Gains of fractions to a point or more were in a clear-cut majority but the general price level didn't move very far.

Some were discouraged by the comparatively low volume of trading today. On Wednesday, the previous trading day, turnover amounted to 2,100,000 shares. Heavy selling was absorbed with a good show of stability. Turnover today, however dropped to 1,110,000 shares.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks remained at 63.8. The industrial component advanced, utilities declined and rails were unchanged of the 1,038 issues which were traded, 522 advanved and 274 declined.

Ending higher, some by very slim margins, were U. S. Steel at 72⅜, American Telephone 150¾, General Motors 61⅛, Goodrich Tire 58½, Montgomery Ward 55¼, Caterpillar Tractor 51½, United Aircraft 24⅝, American Broadcasting 8⅝, Phelps Dodge 52⅝, American Can 80⅛, Dow Chemical 46⅛, Johns-Manville 36⅝, Philip Morris 34⅝, Owens-Illinois 54, Santa Fe 100⅝, Southern Railway 41⅝, Nickel Plate 77½, Superior Oil of California 155½, Texas Co. 53¾, Skelly Oil 114, and Twentieth Century-Fox 18⅛.

Led by a handful of rails, a good part of the bond market went on the offensive and chalked up advances ranging to more than three points.

But a few rail loans got left behind and drifted wodnward in quiet trading. Sales totaled $3,686,000, well below yesterday's volume of $4,720,000.

Some U. S. Governments edged upward, with the tax-empts in the lead. The 2⅞s of 1955-60 gained 2-32nds of a point at 107.26 bid, for example, and the 2½s of 1960-65 were up 6-32nds at 103 30-32nds.

50 Traffic Warrants Will Be Issued Today

Some Tickets Ignored, City Police Report

Warrants for at least 50 motorists who have ignored traffic tickets will be issued this morning, it was reported last night by Lt. Edwin R. Lilya, head of the Traffic Division of the Cumberland Police Department.

Lilya said that perhaps as many as 60 warrants were prepared yesterday and will go out this morning.

Cards were sent to out-of-town residents earlier in the week informing them that warrants would be issued if they further delayed posting bond, Lilya said.

Nearly all the recipients of the warning cards have appeared at Police Headquarters to post bond, and warrants will continue to be issued in cases where motorists appear to have ignored traffic tickets.

No One Exempt

Lilya said, "No one is exempt from parking tickets, and all violators will be brought into line."

It was also pointed out that a traffic ticket is a summons demanding the immediate appearance of the recipient at Police Court to post bond for a hearing.

Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn announced last month that 2 warrant would be issued for the owner of any car involved in a traffic violation if he should fail to appead at Police Headquarters with the traffic ticket within 48 hours.

The usual fine for parking violations is $1, but Flynn said the motorist involved will be charged an extra dollar in cases where it is necessary for the police to obtain a warrant. The extra dollar, he said, will be assessed to cover the cost of legal service in preparing the warrant.

All parking privilege permits were revoked October 25 and before that time many holders of permits were abusing the privilege granted them for parking while conducting business, Chief Flynn said.

Most of the permits allowed the holders to park in authorized space without inserting money in the parking meters.

Returns Increasing

A recent financial statement for the Traffic Division showed traffic fines netted $719, an increase of $463 over the September total.

Most of the fines, police said, were collected from motorists who had violated parking regulations, but some came from fines for other types of traffic law violations.

Lilya emphasized the fact that warning cards and warrants are used only in delinquent cases, where a motorist has ignored tickets.

He said a motorist is not expected to wait for a post card or until a warrant is issued, but should present his ticket at Police Headquarters as soon as possible and within 48 hours after the ticket is issued.

County Medical Care Committee To Meet

A meeting of the county advisory committee for the Medical Care program will be held next Tuesday at 8:30 p. m. in the office of Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer, for general discussion of the program.

Allegany County's allocation was the highest of any county with the exception of Baltimore County, which received $26,000.

Say Heads Should Rise From Ranks

Local 1874, Textiel Workers Union of America, CIO, yesterday asked President Truman to investigate the appointment of a postmaster for Cumberland and called upon the chief executive to allow the promotion of loyal postal employes to top posts in the department.

The wire, signed by Playford Aldridge, president of the 8,000 member Celanese local, said:

"We sincerely request that you cause to be investigated before confirmation is made, the endorsement of Thomas F. Conlon as postmaster of Cumberland, Maryland.

"It is a shameful condition when the unscrupulous back-stabbing Democratic politicians use their influence to frustrate the lifelong efforts and ambitions of postal employes who are more deserving of promotion.

"We think you had a somewhat similar view when you brought a man from the ranks to serve as postmaster general."

Copies of the telegram were sent to Jesse M. Donaldson, postmaster general, and to Senator Scott Lucas.

Aldridge said the local, in asking that postmaster come up from the ranks, is taking the only possible stand that labor could take in the matter.

Those who spend their lives in postal service, he added, surely are entitled to a chance to qualify for the top jobs.

If the job must be a "political plum," Aldridge said, then the candidate who achieves the highest average in a competitive examination should have it.

Conlon's name, along with many other Democratic appointees, was pigeonholed by a Senate committee pending the outcome of the November elections.

Dialect Permitted In Amish Case

SOMERSET, Pa., Nov. 12 (AP)—An Amish farmer today resorted to Pennsylvania Dutch dialect to say in court he opposed the state's educational laws, because his Bible told him so.

Amos J. Yoder told Judge Norman T. Boose of Somerset County Court that he found English inadequate for his argument.

So the judge gave him permission to use the German dialect—and heard a translation from the bishop of the Amish sect.

Yoder and three other Amishmen have appealed to the court from jail sentences twice imposed by a justice of the peace because the men have declined to send their minor children to school. The state requires compulsory education of minor children.

Bishop Joseph J. Yoder of the Mennonite Church interpreted the dialect.

"It says in Scriptures, be not conformed to this world," the bishop translated Yoder's remarks. Later, the bishop on the stand added:

Earlier, another appellant, Enos Mast, testified:

"I thought it was better for my daughter to be kept at home to learn practical things. I feel she is better off doing practical work at home than studying books at school."

A decision will be returned later.

Finan Meets Man He Commissioned

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—An Oklahoman who won a battlefield commission on the Anzio beachhead in Italy and the Maryland man who administered the oath of office met again today at the third annual reunion of the 45th Infantry Division Association.

The Oklahoman, Capt. Jack Treadwell, of Snyder, was a sergeant in Company G, 180th Infantry, when he won his commission at Anzio. Thomas B. Finan, Cumberland, Md., then a captain and adjutant of the 180th gave Treadwell the oath. There were no second lieutenant's gold bars available, so Finan supplied a pair of old, tarnished silver bars for Treadwell to wear.

Treadwell won the Congressional Medal of Honor on the Siegfried Line in Germany. He also won the Distinguished Service Cross, Legion of Merit, Silver Star, Bronze Star and two purple hearts. He now is stationed at Camp Devens, Mass., one of the posts where the 45th was stationed before it went overseas. Finan is city attorney of Cumberland, Md.

A local telephone operator reported to City Police last night that a youth grabbed her at Dexter Place as she was walking to work at the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company building.

Detective Ernest M. Powell, who investigated, said the operator, Miss Mary Richards, 223 Baltimore Street, told him she was walking toward the telephone office when a 17 or 18-year old white boy approached her from behind and grabbed her.

The boy then turned and fled, she said. The attack occurred at about 6:10 p. m., police said.

Dailey Not Liable In Fatal Accident

The Maryland Court of Appeals has ruled that Thomas Dailey, Westernport trucker, is not liable for a 1945 accident in which Robert E. Dorsey, Keyser, W. Va., was killed.

Dorsey was riding in one of Dailey's trucks when the accident occurred in Morgan County, W. Va., September 26, 1945. Howard L. Broadwater, the driver, died six weeks later.

Suit was filed in Allegany County and transferred to Washington County for trial, where a directed verdict was given for the defendant.

Legion Post Has Membership Gain

Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, membership for 1949 has an excellent chance of exceeding that of the current year, Russell Paupe, adjutant, said last night.

With the first phase of the campaign completed a total of 455 enrollments have been received for the new year. This is far in excess of the number at the half-way period in last year's campaign.

The 455 applicants include 40 ments with the balance renewals. Legion officers and members are particularly pleased with the number of reinstatements reported.

Howard Spiker, membership chairman, said it is hoped that 400 more memberships can be obtained by December 31. This quota, if reached, will earn a special citation for the post from the National Department, Legionnaires said.

Cresaptown Assured Aid On Water Plan

County Board Will Help Form Tax Area

Members of the Board of Allegany County Commissioners gave tentative approval last night to the plan of the Cresaptown Civic Improvement Association to set up a special taxing area, float a bond issue and obtain an adequate water supply for Cresaptown.

Representatives of the Association appeared before the County Board at a special session last night at the Court House and outlined the situation.

Earl E. Manges and former Chief Judge William A. Huster, attorneys for the Association, were accompanied by Gordon Garis, secretary, and Lester Sherman, treasurer of the improvement association.

The group, with Manges as spokesman, explained that the association proposes to submit a bill to the General Assembly in January asking for authorization to set up a special taxing area for the Cresaptown section and to float a bond issue up to $75,000, for the purpose of laying water lines and otherwise establishing an adequate water system in the community.

Manges declared the community's privately owned water system is no longer adequate to supply the area and the system failed entirely during the past summer.

Sherman said about 85 per cent of the families affected have joined the association and are in accord with the proposed plan.

Probed All Possibilities

Garis stated every phase of procedures, including special taxing areas, sanitary districts, municipal incorporation and other ideas were projected and aired thoroughly. The vast majority favor a special taxing area for the express purpose of providing water.

It was pointed out that over 300 families will be affected in parts of Election Districts Nos. 6, 7 and 29. These election districts are situated in Tax Collection Districts Nos. 1 and 3.

The group wants the county to give its credit to get the bond issue through. In other words, the bond issue will be a county issue for the express use of Cresaptown for water. The issue is to be retired with funds realized from the sale of water, and a tax rate variously estimated at from 40 cents to 50 cents on each $100 of assessable property in the Special Tax District. Other parts of the county will not be involved.

This idea is considered most fair the group told County Board members, because it means that those who pay for the measure will benefit and those who benefit will be the ones to pay.

The assessable basis of the special taxing area is figured at $1,200,000. A rate of 50 cents for the area will therefore produce $6,000 annually.

In addition, the group plans to sell water to community residents at the rate of $2.75 minimum for the first 3,000 gallons per month and 75 cents for each additional thousand gallons. It is estimated water revenue should therefore exceed $10,000 per year.

Agreement With City

A special agreement is to be made with the City of Cumberland to sell water to the Cresaptown area through a special master meter. A very reasonable rate has been assured the Cresaptown group by the City Water Department, they said, thus assuring some profit from the operation to be used in bond retirement, operation and maintenance.

The group wants the special tax rate of 40 to 50 cents per hundred added to the county's tax bills and collected by county tax collectors. The money will then be transferred to the Cresaptown group to retire its bonds. The group will make its own water fee collections.

Since the City of Cumberland already sells water to the Celanese Corporation, Bowling Green and Potomac Park, water lines already extend within a mile of the community. The City of Cumberland has agreed to sell the community water if the community pays for laying the necessary water main extension.

The County Commissioners told the group they will co-operate with the Cresaptown residents, but asked that a copy of the proposed bill be submitted to them before they take formal action.

The sweeper was ordered in August, 1947, during the term of Myers G. Light, former street commissioner. Cost was $9,350.

Equity Suit Filed

Weather

Football fans had better stay home today and listen to the games on the radio, because the weatherman predicts occasional rain and not much change in temperature. For the second night in a row, yesterday's overnight low reading was a chilly 28 degrees, but the mercury struggled up to 57 during the day. At 11 o'clock last night the reading was 48.

A Stamp Collector's Paradise, But Only A Day's Work To George E. Hess

Hess, stamp clerk at the local Postoffice for the past three years, sells hundreds of the tiny colored bits of paper, but he doesn't collect them, never has and never intends to.

But—he doesn't mind people who do. In fact, he tries to help them as much as possible. He estimates that there must be at least 600 stamp collectors in Cumberland. That's fine, too, but—they all want the same thing and there aren't enough to go around.

It seems that, while a new stamp is interesting, it's much more valuable if it is attached to a plate block number. A plate block number is a number on the margin of each block of a hundred stamps. Each issue has four numbers on the master plate which consists of four blocks. The blocks allotted to each postoffice will have two of those numbers.

In each issue, there are only one hundred plate blocks to be had. So there just aren't enough. If they are not available at the local postoffice, the philatelist can write to Washington, Hess said, but it is necessary to buy a whole block of stamps.

Luckily, a stamp collector walked up to the window and asked for the plate blocks of some recent commemmoratives and answered the question. Their only value lies in their scarcity.

Hess was philosophical about it. Actually, he said, the stamp collectors know more about the stamps than the postoffice officials do. Often, from national collector's magazines, they can find out when a stamp is coming out before the local office knows.

Hess isn't bothered by the bane of many postoffices—first day covers for stamp enthusiasts who want stamps cancelled on the first day of its issue. However, some of his collector friends say they're agitating for a Fort Cumberland commemorative in 1955, but that's a long time yet.

The stamp clerk helps the collectors by never giving out plate blocks unless they are requested. He does

NO PHILATELIST-- George E. Hess, stamp clerk at the local postoffice, tries to aid philatelist Addison Gross (behind window) who came all the way from Pittsburgh, Pa., to get a plate block of a coveted issue. Hess doesn't care for the hobby himself, but does his best to see that collectors get what they come for so long as the supply lasts.

Gold Star Mothers Of Area Will Form Organization Here Tomorrow

Mrs. Eleanor D. Boyd, Long Beach, Cal., national president of the American Gold Star Mothers, Inc., will assist in the formation of the local chapter of the American Gold Star Mothers at a meeting Sunday at 2 p. m. in City Hall Auditorium.

Thomas F. Conlon, Sr., who has been assisting in the organization work, said 15 Gold Star Mothers of this area have already signed applications for membership.

Those who have signed and all others who enroll at tomorrow's meeting will become charter members of the chapter.

The meeting has been called to organize the chapter, to select the name of the unit and to elect temporary officers.

All World War I and II Gold Star Mothers are urged to attend the meeting and to become charter members. There are at least 400 Gold Star Mothers in this area, authorities report.

Provisions have been made for the distribution of Gold Star lapel buttons through the Maryland Veterans Commission office on the third floor of the Liberty Trust building Monday.

The gold lapel buttons are available free of cost to all widows and parents of members of the armed services who lost their lives during World War II. Identification, such as the official notification of the death, must be presented when one applies for the buttons.

50 Traffic Warrants Will Be Issued Today

Some Tickets Ignored, City Police Report

Warrants for at least 50 motorists who have ignored traffic tickets will be issued this morning, it was reported last night by Lt. Edwin R. Lilya, head of the Traffic Division of the Cumberland Police Department.

Lilya said that perhaps as many as 60 warrants were prepared yesterday and will go out this morning.

Cards were sent to out-of-town residents earlier in the week informing them that warrants would be issued if they further delayed posting bond, Lilya said.

Nearly all the recipients of the warning cards have appeared at Police Headquarters to post bond, and warrants will continue to be issued in cases where motorists appear to have ignored traffic tickets.

No One Exempt

Lilya said, "No one is exempt from parking tickets, and all violators will be brought into line."

It was also pointed out that a traffic ticket is a summons demanding the immediate appearance of the recipient at Police Court to post bond for a hearing.

Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn announced last month that 2 warrant would be issued for the owner of any car involved in a traffic violation if he should fail to appead at Police Headquarters with the traffic ticket within 48 hours.

The usual fine for parking violations is $1, but Flynn said the motorist involved will be charged an extra dollar in cases where it is necessary for the police to obtain a warrant. The extra dollar, he said, will be assessed to cover the cost of legal service in preparing the warrant.

All parking privilege permits were revoked October 25 and before that time many holders of permits were abusing the privilege granted them for parking while conducting business, Chief Flynn said.

Most of the permits allowed the holders to park in authorized space without inserting money in the parking meters.

Returns Increasing

Lilya reported last night that returns on parking tickets have been increasing steadily.

A recent financial statement for the Traffic Division showed traffic fines netted $719, an increase of $463 over the September total.

Most of the fines, police said, were collected from motorists who had violated parking regulations, but some came from fines for other types of traffic law violations.

Lilya emphasized the fact that warning cards and warrants are used only in delinquent cases, where a motorist has ignored tickets.

He said a motorist is not expected to wait for a post card or until a warrant is issued, but should present his ticket at Police Headquarters as soon as possible and within 48 hours after the ticket is issued.

County Medical Care Committee To Meet

A meeting of the county advisory committee for the Medical Care program will be held next Tuesday at 8:30 p. m. in the office of Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer, for general discussion of the program.

Dr. Frantz said Allegany County's allocation from the state medical care appropriation is $23,750 for the first six months of the current fiscal year, which started July 1.

The amount is approximately the same as last year.

Maryland's appropriation for medical care in the 1948-49 fiscal year amounts to $460,000.

Allegany County's allocation was the highest of any county with the exception of Baltimore County, which received $26,000.

Say Heads Should Rise From Ranks

Local 1874, Textiel Workers Union of America, CIO, yesterday asked President Truman to investigate the appointment of a postmaster for Cumberland and called upon the chief executive to allow the promotion of loyal postal employes to top posts in the department.

The wire, signed by Playford Aldridge, president of the 8,000 member Celanese local, said:

"We sincerely request that you cause to be investigated before confirmation is made, the endorsement of Thomas F. Conlon as postmaster of Cumberland, Maryland.

"It is a shameful condition when the unscrupulous back-stabbing Democratic politicians use their influence to frustrate the lifelong efforts and ambitions of postal employes who are more deserving of promotion.

"We think you had a somewhat similar view when you brought a man from the ranks to serve as postmaster general."

Copies of the telegram were sent to Jesse M. Donaldson, postmaster general, and to Senator Scott Lucas.

Aldridge said the local, in asking that postmaster come up from the ranks, is taking the only possible stand that labor could take in the matter.

Those who spend their lives in postal service, he added, surely are entitled to a chance to qualify for the top jobs.

If the job must be a "political plum," Aldridge said, then the candidate who achieves the highest average in a competitive examination should have it.

Conlon was one of the three top applicants who qualified for the position about a year ago.

Conlon's name, along with many other Democratic appointees, was pigeonholed by a Senate committee pending the outcome of the November elections.

Dialect Permitted In Amish Case

SOMERSET, Pa., Nov. 12 (AP)—An Amish farmer today resorted to Pennsylvania Dutch dialect to say in court he opposed the state's educational laws, because his Bible told him so.

Amos J. Yoder told Judge Norman T. Boose of Somerset County Court that he found English inadequate for his argument.

So the judge gave him permission to use the German dialect—and heard a translation from the bishop of the Amish sect.

Yoder and three other Amishmen have appealed to the court from jail sentences twice imposed by a justice of the peace because the men have declined to send their minor children to school. The state requires compulsory education of minor children.

Bishop Joseph J. Yoder of the Mennonite Church interpreted the dialect.

"It says in Scriptures, be not conformed to this world," the bishop translated Yoder's remarks. Later, the bishop on the stand added:

Earlier, another appellant, Enos Mast, testified:

"I thought it was better for my daughter to be kept at home to learn practical things. I feel she is better off doing practical work at home than studying books at school."

A decision will be returned later.

Finan Meets Man He Commissioned

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP)—An Oklahoman who won a battlefield commission on the Anzio beachhead in Italy and the Maryland man who administered the oath of office met again today at the third annual reunion of the 45th Infantry Division Association.

The Oklahoman, Capt. Jack Treadwell, of Snyder, was a sergeant in Company G, 180th Infantry, when he won his commission at Anzio. Thomas B. Finan, Cumberland, Md., then a captain and adjutant of the 180th gave Treadwell the oath. There were no second lieutenant's gold bars available, so Finan supplied a pair of old, tarnished silver bars for Treadwell to wear.

Treadwell won the Congressional Medal of Honor on the Siegfried Line in Germany. He also won the Distinguished Service Cross, Legion of Merit, Silver Star, Bronze Star and two purple hearts. He now is stationed at Camp Devens, Mass., one of the posts where the 45th was stationed before it went overseas. Finan is city attorney of Cumberland, Md.

A local telephone operator reported to City Police last night that a youth grabbed her at Dexter Place as she was walking to work at the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company building.

Detective Ernest M. Powell, who investigated, said the operator, Miss Mary Richards, 223 Baltimore Street, told him she was walking toward the telephone office when a 17 or 18-year old white boy approached her from behind and grabbed her.

The boy then turned and fled, she said. The attack occurred at about 6:10 p. m., police said.

Dailey Not Liable In Fatal Accident

The Maryland Court of Appeals has ruled that Thomas Dailey, Westernport trucker, is not liable for a 1945 accident in which Robert E. Dorsey, Keyser, W. Va., was killed.

Dorsey was riding in one of Dailey's trucks when the accident occurred in Morgan County, W. Va., September 26, 1945. Howard L. Broadwater, the driver, died six weeks later.

Suit was filed in Allegany County and transferred to Washington County for trial, where a directed verdict was given for the defendant.

Legion Post Has Membership Gain

Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, membership for 1949 has an excellent chance of exceeding that of the current year, Russell Paupe, adjutant, said last night.

With the first phase of the campaign completed a total of 455 enrollments have been received for the new year. This is far in excess of the number at the half-way period in last year's campaign.

The 455 applicants include 40 ments with the balance renewals. Legion officers and members are particularly pleased with the number of reinstatements reported.

Howard Spiker, membership chairman, said it is hoped that 400 more memberships can be obtained by December 31. This quota, if reached, will earn a special citation for the post from the National Department, Legionnaires said.

Cresaptown Assured Aid On Water Plan

County Board Will Help Form Tax Area

Members of the Board of Allegany County Commissioners gave tentative approval last night to the plan of the Cresaptown Civic Improvement Association to set up a special taxing area, float a bond issue and obtain an adequate water supply for Cresaptown.

Representatives of the Association appeared before the County Board at a special session last night at the Court House and outlined the situation.

Earl E. Manges and former Chief Judge William A. Huster, attorneys for the Association, were accompanied by Gordon Garis, secretary, and Lester Sherman, treasurer of the improvement association.

The group, with Manges as spokesman, explained that the association proposes to submit a bill to the General Assembly in January asking for authorization to set up a special taxing area for the Cresaptown section and to float a bond issue up to $75,000, for the purpose of laying water lines and otherwise establishing an adequate water system in the community.

Manges declared the community's privately owned water system is no longer adequate to supply the area and the system failed entirely during the past summer.

Sherman said about 85 per cent of the families affected have joined the association and are in accord with the proposed plan.

Probed All Possibilities

Garis stated every phase of procedures, including special taxing areas, sanitary districts, municipal incorporation and other ideas were projected and aired thoroughly. The vast majority favor a special taxing area for the express purpose of providing water.

It was pointed out that over 300 families will be affected in parts of Election Districts Nos. 6, 7 and 29. These election districts are situated in Tax Collection Districts Nos. 1 and 3.

The group wants the county to use its credit to get the bond issue through. In other words, the bond issue will be a county issue for the express use of Cresaptown for water. The issue is to be retired with funds realized from the sale of water, and a tax rate variously estimated at from 40 cents to 50 cents on each $100 of assessable property in the Special Tax District. Other parts of the county will not be involved.

This idea is considered most fair the group told County Board members, because it means that those who pay for the measure will benefit and those who benefit will be the ones to pay.

The assessable basis of the special taxing area is figured at $1,200,000. A rate of 50 cents for the area will therefore produce $6,000 annually.

In addition, the group plans to sell water to community residents at the rate of $2.75 minimum for the first 3,000 gallons per month and 75 cents for each additional thousand gallons. It is estimated water revenue should therefore exceed $10,000 per year.

Agreement With City

A special agreement is to be made with the City of Cumberland to sell water to the Cresaptown area through a special master meter. A very reasonable rate has been assured the Cresaptown group by the City Water Department, they said, thus assuring some profit from the operation to be used in bond retirement, operation and maintenance.

The group wants the special tax rate of 40 to 50 cents per hundred added to the county's tax bills and collected by county tax collectors. The money will then be transferred to the Cresaptown group to retire its bonds. The group will make its own water fee collections.

Since the City of Cumberland already sells water to the Celanese Corporation, Bowling Green and Potomac Park, water lines already extend within a mile of the community. The City of Cumberland has agreed to sell the community water if the community pays for laying the necessary water main extension.

The County Commissioners told the group they will co-operate with the Cresaptown residents, but asked that a copy of the proposed bill be submitted to them before they take formal action.

Football fans had better stay home today and listen to the games on the radio, because the weatherman predicts occasional rain and not much change in temperature. For the second night in a row, yesterday's overnight low reading was a chilly 28 degrees, but the mercury struggled up to 57 during the day. At 11 o'clock last night the reading was 48.

A Stamp Collector's Paradise, But Only A Day's Work To George E. Hess

Many a stamp collector would love to trade places with George E. Hess, 316 Piedmont Avenue, but the feeling isn't mutual.

Hess, stamp clerk at the local Postoffice for the past three years, sells hundreds of the tiny colored bits of paper, but he doesn't collect them, never has and never intends to.

But—he doesn't mind people who do. In fact, he tries to help them as much as possible. He estimates that there must be at least 600 stamp collectors in Cumberland. That's fine, too, but—they all want the same thing and there aren't enough to go around.

It seems that, while a new stamp is interesting, it's much more valuable if it is attached to a plate block number. A plate block number is a number on the margin of each block of a hundred stamps. Each issue has four numbers on the master plate which consists of four blocks. The blocks allotted to each postoffice will have two of those numbers.

In each issue, there are only one hundred plate blocks to be had. So there just aren't enough. If they are not available at the local postoffice, the philatelist can write to Washington, Hess said, but it is necessary to buy a whole block of stamps.

Why is the plate block more valuable? Hess didn't know. None of the clerks (who incidentally, don't collect stamps either) near him knew.

Luckily, a stamp collector walked up to the window and asked for the plate blocks of some recent commemmoratives and answered the question. Their only value lies in their scarcity.

Hess was philosophical about it. Actually, he said, the stamp collectors know more about the stamps than the postoffice officials do. Often, from national collector's magazines, they can find out when a stamp is coming out before the local office knows.

Hess isn't bothered by the bane of many postoffices—first day covers for stamp enthusiasts who want stamps cancelled on the first day of its issue. However, some of his collector friends say they're agitating for a Fort Cumberland commemorative in 1955, but that's a long time yet.

The stamp clerk helps the collectors by never giving out plate blocks unless they are requested. He does

NO PHILATELIST-- George E. Hess, stamp clerk at the local postoffice, tries to aid philatelist Addison Gross (behind window) who came all the way from Pittsburgh, Pa., to get a plate block of a coveted issue. Hess doesn't care for the hobby himself, but does his best to see that collectors get what they come for so long as the supply lasts.
